Dewey Leaves On First Major Campaign Tour

Talks In Des Moines Tonight; Truman Set To Invade Colorado

[By The Associated Press]

Thomas E. Dewey rolled toward Iowa today hot on the trail of President Truman, who was one jump ahead on the way to Denver.

The GOP presidential candidate had a chance to answer on the spot Mr. Truman's 14-speech day-long assault Saturday on the 80th Congress and "Wall Street gluttons of privilege" who he said are paying large sums to help the Republicans win.

The New York Governor, speaking tonight from 9 to 9:30 p. m. (EST) at Des Moines, is expected to uphold the Congress. His aides also forecast that he will pledge opposition to more Russian expansion in Europe and Asia. Foreign and domestic problems are expected to be covered.

Truman Speaks At Denver

The Dewey special train got under way Sunday from Albany, N. Y. Mr. Truman spent Saturday night and Sunday at Independence, Mo., his old home, before boarding his train for Denver. Both candidates looked forward to a busy Monday in a series of personal appearances. Mr. Truman is to speak at 2 p. m. (EST) at the Denver Capitol grounds, on natural resources.

In Washington, Herbert Brownell, Jr., Dewey campaign manager, said in a statement distributed by Republican national headquarters that President Truman is trying to "conduct a campaign of fear and smear."

Brownell said he is confident that Dewey tonight "will provide the nation with a refreshing contrast to hysterical and bewildered outbursts such as the one in which Mr. Truman indulged Saturday."

Mr. Truman's main speech in Iowa, delivered at Dexter before an estimated 80,000 or more rural people, "was a more flagrant flouting of the facts and a graver infringement upon the dignity of the presidential office than was his previous performance at Detroit on Labor Day," Brownell said. The Detroit speech represented "brazen demagoguery," he added.

Warren "Sets Example"

The President's tactics are "designed to divide the nation" and he is humiliating the country, the GOP leader observed. He said that Gov. Earl Warren, of California, GOP vice presidential candidate, has set an example of how a national campaign can be conducted "without intemperate villification and attempts to stir up hate and fear."

With six weeks to go before the November 2 election day, the Dewey talk in Des Moines will be his first major one of the campaign. He is setting out on a 14-day tour which will take him to the West Coast. He will reach Denver Tuesday afternoon. Much of his trip will cover ground included in Mr. Truman's swing which began Friday.

Reds Confiscate Western Papers

BERLIN, Sept. 19 (AP) — Roving Communist strong-arm squads seized Western Berlin newspapers in the Soviet zone of the city today in a move to embargo all non-Soviet publications.

As the raiders confiscated the papers, the Communist-controlled postal employes of the Russian sector said they would refuse to handle western papers because they were war mongering."

American officials have expected the embargo in Eastern Berlin. Western German publications have been shut out of the Soviet occupation zone of Germany for two months through a distribution monopoly.

The American officials have denounced the steps as a violation of four-power agreements for the free exchange of information throughout Germany and are known now to be considering a counter-embargo to block Soviet-controlled publications.

The raiders hurried from one newsstand to another, ripping and scattering the papers. They demanded pledges from the dealers that they would refuse in the future to sell the western-licensed publications. Dealers were threatened with "other measures" if they refused to comply.

Marshall Flies To Paris For Crucial U. N. Session

Truman Train's Priority Delays GOP's Chairman

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 19 (AP)—You can blame this one on politics.

Hugh D. Scott, Jr., chairman of the Republican National Committee, left here last night for Dallas, Tex., to continue a series of GOP campaign visitations.

However, the Republican chairman's departure was delayed for about 25 minutes because his train was being held to permit the processing of another — President Truman's campaign special.

World Situation Is "Unusually Critical"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall flew to Paris today for a crucial United Nations meeting, pledging "we will do our best" in what he called "an unusually critical world situation."

"I hope the discussions there will bring us toward a more peaceful world, but hope alone is not enough," he said.

Marshall took off from the Washington Airport at 12:10 p. m. EST in President Truman's personal plane, the Independence. He came to the airport directly from three hours of work at the State Department, where he went over the latest reply from Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia on the Berlin blockade crisis.

Molotov Envoys Confer

Molotov met with the western envoys in Moscow yesterday. The impression among top diplomatic officials here was that Molotov has not agreed to direct the Russian military commander in Berlin to negotiate for the end of the Russian blockade of the city, in line with previous Russian commitments. On the other hand, it appeared that Moscow had not closed the door finally on blockade negotiations.

There was still speculation that the Russians might try for direct talks in Paris with the British, American and French ministers on the Berlin crisis, outside the formal United Nations program. However, an aide of Marshall reported that no arrangements have been made for a foreign ministers meeting.

Marshall was accompanied by Mrs. Marshall.

Bernard M. Baruch, "elder statesman" of the past several presidential administrations, Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, and Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett were at the airfield to see Marshall and his party depart.

Allies Plan Next Move

Others in the Paris party included State Department Counselor Charles E. Bohlen, Marshall's top Russian expert; Mr. Bohlen, and Frederick Reinhardt, another Russian adviser and chief of the State Department's Far Eastern Division.

Meanwhile, the United States, Britain and France began consulting today on what move they should make next. There was a slight possibility they would decide that further negotiations with the Russians were useless and would blow the lid off the talks thus far held, preliminary to a showdown in the United Nations.

But most informed persons believe their decision would favor continuing talking with the Russians as long as there is any chance of ending the blockade.

Attorney General Assails Loyalty Program Critics

Committee Report Unfair, Clark Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP) — Attorney General Tom C. Clark today accused a Senate committee headed by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) of having made "unfair and uninformed criticism" of the administration's program for checking loyalty of government employes.

Clark made the accusation in a delayed reply to a investigating subcommittee report made public September 5.

In that report the committee complained that the loyalty program is "inadequate," filled with "dangerous delays" and needs prompt overhauling.

Four days later, Clark said in his statement released late today, he conferred with Ferguson over the matter. With Clark were Harry B. Mitchell, president of the Civil Service Commission, and Arthur Flemming, former member of the commission. Two members of the Ferguson subcommittee also were present, Clark said.

Clark said he personally pointed out "that there was no substantial basis" for many of the statements made in the committee's report.

"After presenting our views in detail," Clark said, "Sen. Ferguson requested us not to file the statement and said they (the committee) would check into our objections and if they were well taken, to make suitable corrections."

Clark said his statement was then withheld at that time.

In the meantime, Clark declared, Sen. Ferguson has released to the press "information that is most confidential evidently through 'leaks' or 'tips' concerning criminal cases pending in the department.

"He did this," Clark added, "in an apparent effort to lead the public into believing that he forced the Department of Justice to act, although he knows the matters to which he referred in the press were started months ago."

Clark said he had accordingly notified Ferguson through committee counsel that his previously prepared reply to the subcommittee would be made public. He said Ferguson's statements "are obviously issued for political purposes."

Accord On Sale Of U. S. Films To Russia Near

MOSCOW, Sept. 19 (AP) — Eric Johnston said tonight he appeared to have reached an agreement with Russia on the sale of United States movies here.

"It would appear we have reached a meeting of minds on the sale of pictures to the Soviet Union," said Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America.

Details will be worked out in the United States. Johnston emphasized the Soviet Union has not assumed there would be assistance toward the sale of Soviet pictures in the United States. He said also that the pictures the Russians buy will be from a list "we submit to them."

Met Opens Nov. 29

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—The 1948-49 Metropolitan Opera season will open the night of November 29, Edward Johnson, general manager, announced today. The season will last 16 weeks—two weeks less than last year.

Hundreds Seek Missing Couple

GLEN BURNIE, Md., Sept. 19 (AP) —As darkness brought a temporary halt to efforts of more than 1,000 volunteers who have been combing this area for some trace of John H. Mahlan and Mary C. Kline, authorities reported little in the way of new clues to the strange disappearances.

The 25-year-old Glen Burnie post office worker and his 18-year-old companion left Miss Kline's home early Friday night, saying they were going for a ride and would be back soon.

Mahlan's blood-scattered, bullet marked automobile was found yesterday morning in a sandy patch off Old Annapolis Road, about 15 miles south of Baltimore.

Chief John H. Souers, of the Anne Arundel County Police Department, said, after he dismissed the weary searching parties:

"Nothing positive at all has turned up. The situation is just the same as when the search started after the car was found.

"Until we find a body, we have very little to go on."

A set of keys belonging to Mahlan was found today near the spot where the car was parked, but Souers did not consider the find as of prime importance.

Meanwhile, he awaited reports of fingerprints found in the automobile and of an analysis of blood stains in the sedan.

The search will resume tomorrow.

Israel Approves Measures To Deal With Terrorists

Scores Of Sternists Seized In Jerusalem

TEL AVIV, Israel, Sept. 19 (AP)—Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok told the acting United Nations mediator tonight Israel has "adopted special emergency regulations giving it sweeping powers to take action against terrorist organizations, their members and accomplices."

Informed sources said the laws are strong enough to include Irgun Zvai Leumi as well as the Stern Gang, which Israel accuses of the assassination Friday of Count Folke Bernadotte.

His successor, Ralph J. Bunche, heard from Shertok that 150 members of the Stern group (fighters for the freedom of Israel) have been arrested in Jerusalem and over 50 seized in Tel Aviv and elsewhere.

(Jerusalem dispatches said 200 Sternists were arrested there and carted off to Haifa for dispersal in the Israeli army.)

"There seems to be little doubt that the group calling itself Hazit Hamoledeth—the Fatherland Front—which has acknowledged authorship of the crime, is an arm of the dissident organization, Fighters for the Freedom of Israel," Shertok said.

He told Bunche "vigorous investigations are proceeding to probe deeper into the mystery of the crime and discover the real culprits."

The Foreign Minister said suspects will be paraded before eyewitnesses of the assassination soon. Lt. Col. Andre Pierre Serot, of France, Bernadotte's senior aide in Jerusalem, was killed with him.

"At an extraordinary meeting last night, the government unanimously approved measures already taken in Jerusalem and elsewhere and decided on the most vigorous prosecution of the investigation and on action against the Fighters for the Freedom of Israel," Shertok said.

He said the new regulations will be promulgated in a day or two and added:

"Further measures against terrorism, with a view to tracking down the assassins, are under consideration."

Irgun has already been ordered dissolved in Israeli territory.

Haifa was the scene of a final Holy Land tribute to Bernadotte and Serot.

As a bugle sounded "last post" a white United Nations plane left Haifa for Rhodes on the first stage of a trip to return the victims to Sweden and France.

N. Y. Truck Tieup Ends

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—New York's 19-day-old trucking tie-up was virtually at an end today, with operators bowing to the demands of striking AFL teamsters.

High Seas, Winds Batter Grounded British Vessel

Fisherman Casts Hook And Sinker Through Plane

YONKERS, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—Today's fish story:

An enthusiastic angler cast his line with such force from the Yonkers seaplane base that hook and sinker passed through both sides of a seaplane anchored there.

Pilot Francis Houle, in the plane, said the hook barely missed his face.

Aid Speeding To Ship Carrying 73 Persons

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 19—(AP)—A United States Navy vessel plowed through stormy seas tonight to reach the British freighter Lochmonar, battered by gales and reported "in bad shape" with 73 persons aboard.

The 9,000-ton Lochmonar, her forepeak flooded and water pouring into No. 1 hold, lay hard aground on Little Cayman Island scarcely 100 miles from the center of a howling hurricane with winds of 115 miles an hour.

"We're in bad shape," the Lochmonar radioed Coast Guard headquarters here. "Fear we are breaking up. Need immediate assistance."

Easterly gales and heavy seas pounded the vessel, her bow pointed directly northward in only 18 feet of water. Normally a vessel of that size draws about 30 feet.

Storm Picks Up Force

Meanwhile, the hurricane picked up force and its whirling winds increased from 85 to 115 miles an hour. It was about 55 miles west northwest of Grand Cayman Island, moving northwest about six miles an hour.

The diameter of the hurricane "eye" was only about five miles, the Weather Bureau said, pointing out it was a very small but severe hurricane. Some increase in intensity was expected.

Hurricane hunters in the Navy and Air Forces began a 24-hour watch, putting radar aircraft into the sky to watch the whirling disturbance as it headed toward the Northwestern Caribbean.

The entire western end of Cuba was closed to flying as a precautionary measure and the big Rancho Boyeros Airport at Havana was shut down until further notice.

Propellor Out of Water

A Navy plane which flew over the Lochmonar today reported part of the rudder and propellor were out of water and a strong southeast gale pounded the vessel, threatening to turn it sideways on the beach and perhaps toss it on its side.

The Lochmonar flew no distress flags or signals, the Navy plane said. Crew members lined the rail and waved as the plane passed at crow's nest level.

Sixty-seven of those on board were crewmen and six were passengers. The ship was sailing for Cienfuegos, Cuba, from Cristobal, Canal Zone.

One of the last messages from the ship reported "winds are increasing."

Assembly Backs Queuille Program

PARIS, Sept. 19 (AP)—The National Assembly approved today the program of Premier Henry Queuille for increased taxes and government economy.

It was an endorsement that his two predecessors, Robert Schuman and Andre Marie, lost their jobs trying to get.

The program, endorsed after an all-night session, will become law after approval by the Council of the Republic—the upper house in the Parliament. No serious difficulties were foreseen there.

The new laws will put France in a position to ask permission of the United States to use a blocked fund of about 80,000,000 francs (about $260,000,000) for reconstruction.

This represents the franc equivalent of American grants to France under the European recovery program.

The new taxes are on income, business volume, automobiles, tobacco and other items. They are expected to bring in another 80,000,000,000 francs in annual revenue.

Queuille also plans to save 20,000,000,000 francs (about $65,000,000) a year bu cutting the number of government employes.

Leader Of Burma's Fight Against Reds Is Killed

RANGOON, Burma, Sept. 19 (AP)—Burma's efforts to smash a Communist-led rebellion suffered a new blow today with the assassination of Brig. U Tin Tut.

Official sources asknowledged a state of emergency existed throughout the strife-torn fledgling republic.

Impaled On Post

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 19 (AP)—Surgeons removed a two-foot wooden stake today from the back of Mrs. Aleda Johnson, 33, who slipped on a sloping cellar door and was impaled on the small post used as a doorstop.

"Pronounced Shift"

South Scores Top Income Gain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP) — Strides made in industrial development were credited today with giving the South and West the biggest income gains in the nation from 1929 through 1947. Government payments helped, too.

The Commerce Department, in a study of long-range regional trends in income payments to individuals, said there was a "pronounced relative shift of income from the New England and middle eastern regions to the South and West."

All regions shared in the general increase that lifted average income per person to $1,323 last year, or nearly double the average of $680 for 1929. But the South and West scored the biggest percentage gains because they started from farther back.

Here's the regional score on the per-person average advance:

Southeast (Ala., Ark., Fla., Ga., Ky., La., Miss., N. C., S. C., Tenn. and Va.)—from $344 in 1929 to $883 in 1947, a 157 per cent gain.

Southwest (Ariz., N. Mex., Okla. and Texas)—$464 to $1,081, a 133 per cent gain.

Northwest (Colo., Idaho, Kans., Mont., Neb., N. Dak., S. Dak., Utah and Wyo.)—$534 to $1,373, a 157 per cent gain.

Far West (Calif., Nev., Ore., and Wash.)—$865 to $1,559, an 80 per cent gain.

New England (Conn., Me., Mass., N. H., R. I., and Vt.)—$838 to $1,444, a 72 per cent gain.

Middle East (Dela., D. C., Md., N. J., N. Y, Pa. and W. Va.)—$926 to $1,559, a 68 per cent gain.

Central (Ill., Ind., Iowa, Mich., Minn., Mo., Ohio, and Wisc)—$720 to $1,391, a 93 per cent gain.

Despite their loss of relative position, the middle eastern states shared top honors for average income last year with the Far West.

Five Persons Killed When Small Diesel Train Strikes Auto

AVON LAKE, Ia., Sept. 19 (AP)—Five persons were killed and two others were injured today when the car in which they were riding was struck by a Des Moines-bound small Diesel passenger train.

The dead:

Mrs. Lorene Kauzlarich, 29; her son, David, 7; Milton Iserman, Mrs. Dorothy Iserman, wife of Milton, and their daughter, Sandra Iserman.

The injured were Anton C. Kauzlarich, 29, husband of Mrs. Lorene Kauzlarich, and father of David, and Doris Iserman, 8, another daughter of the Isermans.

The Kauzlarich and Iserman families lived next door to each other in Des Moines, and were en route to Avon Lake on a fishing trip when the accident occurred shortly after noon.

C. E. Mowery, conductor on the train, said it was traveling about 30 miles an hour at the time of the crash.

Communists Stage Coup, Seize Power In Indonesia City

"Soviet" Regime Set Up, President Says

BATAVIA, Java, Sept. 19 (AP)—Communists have overthrown the government in the Indonesian city of Madioen and set up "a Soviet" regime, President Soekarno announced today.

The President immediately proclaimed martial law for all workers in vital industries throughout the Indonesian republic and warned that "this seizure of power by the Communists may be regarded as the start for seizing the whole republic."

Republic Threatened

Soekarno said the republic was in grave danger and called for the recapture of Madioen as soon as possible.

Speaking over the Jogjakarta radio, the President said "Musso (Moscow-trained Communist) and his Communist Party staged a coup, seized power in Madioen and established there a soviet government under his leadership."

He said the insurgents were aided by a brigade of the Republican army and a unit of the Peoples army (Laskar).

The Ministry of Information said the coup probably was Moscow-inspired.

Curfew Is Ordered

A Jogjakarta radio broadcast said the government is using all available means to restore order and regain control.

The provincial administration immediately ordered a curfew, announced severe penalties against looting, and required all persons to carry identification papers.

President Soekarno broadcast an appeal to his people to stand behind the government. He denounced Communist Leader Musso, recently returned from Russia, as a "traitor."

Masked Bandits Break Up Party

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., Sept. 19 (AP) — Seven masked men, armed with Garand Army rifles and a sub-machine gun, invaded a private party here before dawn today and escaped with an estimated $2,500 in cash and jewelry.

Police said the men made their getaway in four cars parked outside the Boat House where the party was being held, just outside the Virginia Beach city limits.

Three of the cars, they said, had been recovered by late afternoon but the fourth was still missing.

City, county and state police threw up roadblocks on all routes leading out of Princess Anne County to head off the bandits. A spokesman said authorities were "certain" the men had not left the county.

500 Villagers Reported Killed In Landslide

CALCUTTA, Sept. 19 (AP)—Reports reaching here tonight said 500 villagers are believed to have perished in a landslide on the Assam-Tibetan border.

Whole villages are said to have been wiped out in the landslide, described as being four miles wide. The area is said to be unapproachable, and there are no details.

Moscow Sets Jan. 1 Deadline For Evacuation

Soviets Hope U. S. Will Follow Suit; Move Unexpected

MOSCOW, Sept. 19—(AP)—Russia said tonight all Soviet troops would be evacuated from Northern Korea by January 1, 1949, and expressed hope the United States would follow suit in Southern Korea.

The announcement was made in a decree of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (parliament).

Tass, the Soviet news agency, carried an official statement of the Soviet Foreign Ministry announcing the decision.

American diplomatic circles expressed surprise at the Soviet move. Informants said they did not expect the Russians to withdraw from Northern Korea until the Americans evacuated Southern Korea.

When the Russians proposed a year ago to withdraw their armies from Korea if the Americans did likewise, observers in the United States Embassy here interpreted it as "primarily a propaganda maneuver."

They admitted surprise that the withdrawal order was issued regardless whether the American troops remain in Southern Korea. They said this latest Soviet move creates an entirely new situation in Korea.

A Moscow broadcast heard in London said withdrawal of all Soviet troops from Northern Korea would begin "not later than the second half of October" and will be completed by January 1, 1949.

Size of Forces Not Estimated

It gave no estimate of the size of the Soviet forces which now occupy Northern Korea.

The Russian action was in line with the demand by the Soviet-sponsored Northern Korean government that United States and Russia withdraw their forces from the entire country.

Western sources have said that such a step in the divided nation might be a prelude to civil war.

The Moscow radio relayed an announcement issued by the Soviet Foreign Ministry which said:

"The question of simultaneous withdrawal of Soviet and United by the Supreme National Assembly of Korea, was referred by the Soviet government to the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (parliament)."

The Presidium (executive agency) it added, "recognized it as opportune to execute the withdrawal of Soviet troops from North Korea, expressing the hope the United States government would agree to withdrawal of United States troops from South Korea."

(In Washington, the State Department had not received word of Russia's statement. One official said he doubted if it would affect immediate future. The Korean sembly.

(Some observers felt the Russian announcement would inspire an attitude of wait-and-see what Moscow actually does.

(The United States was last reported in May to have about 30,000 troops in Southern Korea. It has been estimated that the new Southern Korea republic has a defense force of about 60,000 men. This is far less than the estimated Communist-trained force of 200,000 in the north. Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, who until recently commanded United States troops in Korea, said in Washington September 10 that American forces likely will not be withdrawn until final decisions are reached as to Korea's future.)

Northern Korea was occupied by Soviet troops after the war with Japan. United States troops occupied the southern half. Separate governments have been established in the two parts, with the southern government having United Nations sponsorship.

12 Lose Lives In Crash Of RAF Plane Into Crowd

MANSTON, England, Sept. 19 (AP) — Two more victims died today, raising to 12 the number killed in the crash of a Mosquito bomber into a crowd near an RAF airport yesterday.

Physicians said three others are in critical condition.

The two-engined plane, stunting in a commemorative "Battle of Britain" air show, crashed on a crowded highway.

Anti-Inflation Step

Credit Controls Effective Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Installment buying returns to federal control tomorrow.

Down payments and length of time to pay will be governed. Ordinary charge accounts won't.

Most consumer goods costing $50 to $5,000 are covered.

Easy payment loans are timelimited.

It is an anti-inflation step taken by Congress. President Truman said it is only "a tiny fraction" of what is needed.

The Federal Reserve Board made the rules. There are criminal penalties, and the board also has the power to put a violator out of credit business.

Here are the terms:

After down payment, 18 months to pay if the balance exceeds $1,000, 15 months if $1,000 or less.

One-third down on automobiles.

Twenty per cent down on cook stoves, dishwashers, ironers, refrigerators, washing machines, air conditioners, radios, phonographs, television sets, sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, furniture and rugs.

Personal loans of lending houses must be repaid within 15 to 18 months depending on the size; if over $1,000 the minimum monthly payment is $70.

Exempt from credit control are medical, dental, hospital, educational and funeral expenses; loans for real estate and home improvement; loans to pay for fire and casulty insurance; business or agricultural loans; credit to dealers who buy goods for resale; loans to federal, state or local governments, or to religious, charitable and educational organizations, and any credit under the government's rehabilitation and readjustment programs.

Some items which onee were under credit controls, but were not included in the new regulations, are pianos and other musical instruments, silverware and jewelry.

Weather Forecast

Dewey Leaves On First Major Campaign Tour

Talks In Des Moines Tonight; Truman Set To Invade Colorado

Thomas E. Dewey rolled toward Iowa today hot on the trail of President Truman, who was one jump ahead on the way to Denver.

The GOP presidential candidate had a chance to answer on the spot Mr. Truman's 14-speech day-long assault Saturday on the 80th Congress and "Wall Street gluttons of privilege" who he said are paying large sums to help the Republicans win.

The New York Governor, speaking tonight from 9 to 9:30 p. m. (EST) at Des Moines, is expected to uphold the Congress. His aides also forecast that he will pledge opposition to more Russian expansion in Europe and Asia. Foreign and domestic problems are expected to be covered.

The Dewey special train got under way Sunday from Albany, N. Y. Mr. Truman spent Saturday night and Sunday at Independence, Mo., his old home, before boarding his train for Denver. Both candidates looked forward to a busy Monday in a series of personal appearances. Mr. Truman is to speak at 2 p. m. (EST) at the Denver Capitol grounds, on natural resources.

In Washington, Herbert Brownell, Jr., Dewey campaign manager, said in a statement distributed by Republican national headquarters that President Truman is trying to "conduct a campaign of fear and smear."

Mr. Truman's main speech in Iowa, delivered at Dexter before an estimated 80,000 or more rural people, "was a more flagrant flouting of the facts and a graver infringement upon the dignity of the presidential office than was his previous performance at Detroit on Labor Day," Brownell said. Earl Warren, of California, GOP vice presidential candidate, has set an example of how a national campaign can be conducted "without intemperate villification and attempts to stir up hate and fear."

With six weeks to go before the November 2 election day, the Dewey talk in Des Moines will be his first major one of the campaign. He is setting out on a 14-day tour which will take him to the West Coast. He will reach Denver Tuesday afternoon. Much of his trip will cover ground included in Mr. Truman's swing which began Friday.

The raiders hurried from one newsstand to another, ripping and scattering the papers. They demanded pledges from the dealers that they would refuse in the future to sell the western-licensed publications. Dealers were threatened with "other measures" if they refused to comply.

Marshall Flies To Paris For Crucial U. N. Session

World Situation Is "Unusually Critical"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall flew to Paris today for a crucial United Nations meeting, pledging "we will do our best" in what he called "an unusually critical world situation."

"I hope the discussions there will bring us toward a more peaceful world, but hope alone is not enough," he said.

Marshall took off from the Washington Airport at 12:10 p. m. EST in President Truman's personal plane, the Independence. He came to the airport directly from three hours of work at the State Department, where he went over the latest reply from Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia on the Berlin blockade crisis.

Molotov Envoys Confer

Molotov met with the western envoys in Moscow yesterday. The impression among top diplomatic officials here was that Molotov has not agreed to direct the Russian military commander in Berlin to negotiate for the end of the Russian blockade of the city, in line with previous Russian commitments. On the other hand, it appeared that Moscow had not closed the door finally on blockade negotiations.

There was still speculation that the Russians might try for direct talks in Paris with the British, American and French ministers on the Berlin crisis, outside the formal United Nations program. However, an aide of Marshall reported that no arrangements have been made for a foreign ministers meeting.

Marshall was accompanied by Mrs. Marshall.

Bernard M. Baruch, "elder statesman" of the past several presidential administrations, Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, and Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett were at the airfield to see Marshall and his party depart.

Allies Plan Next Move

Others in the Paris party included State Department Counselor Charles E. Bohlen, Marshall's top Russian expert; Mr. Bohlen, and Frederick Reinhardt, another Russian adviser and chief of the State Department's Far Eastern Division.

Meanwhile, the United States, Britain and France began consulting today on what move they should make next. There was a slight possibility they would decide that further negotiations with the Russians were useless and would blow the lid off the talks thus far held, preliminary to a showdown in the United Nations.

But most informed persons believe their decision would favor continuing talking with the Russians as long as there is any chance of ending the blockade.

Truman Train's Priority Delays GOP's Chairman

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 19 (AP)—You can blame this one on politics.

Hugh D. Scott, Jr., chairman of the Republican National Committee, left here last night for Dallas, Tex., to continue a series of GOP campaign visitations.

However, the Republican chairman's departure was delayed for about 25 minutes because his train was being held to permit the processing of another — President Truman's campaign special.

Attorney General Assails Loyalty Program Critics

Committee Report Unfair, Clark Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP) — Attorney General Tom C. Clark today accused a Senate committee headed by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) of having made "unfair and uninformed criticism" of the administration's program for checking loyalty of government employes.

Clark made the accusation in a delayed reply to a investigating subcommittee report made public September 5.

In that report the committee complained that the loyalty program is "inadequate," filled with "dangerous delays" and needs prompt overhauling.

Four days later, Clark said in his statement released late today, he conferred with Ferguson over the matter. With Clark were Harry B. Mitchell, president of the Civil Service Commission, and Arthur Flemming, former member of the commission. Two members of the Ferguson subcommittee also were present, Clark said.

Clark said he personally pointed out "that there was no substantial basis" for many of the statements made in the committee's report.

"After presenting our views in detail," Clark said, "Sen. Ferguson requested us not to file the statement and said they (the committee) would check into our objections and if they were well taken, to make suitable corrections."

Clark said his statement was then withheld at that time.

In the meantime, Clark declared, Sen. Ferguson has released to the press "information that is most confidential evidently through 'leaks' or 'tips' concerning criminal cases pending in the department.

"He did this," Clark added, "in an apparent effort to lead the public into believing that he forced the Department of Justice to act, although he knows the matters to which he referred in the press were started months ago."

Clark said he had accordingly notified Ferguson through committee counsel that his previously prepared reply to the subcommittee would be made public. He said Ferguson's statements "are obviously issued for political purposes."

Accord On Sale Of U. S. Films To Russia Near

MOSCOW, Sept. 19 (AP) — Eric Johnston said tonight he appeared to have reached an agreement with Russia on the sale of United States movies here.

"It would appear we have reached a meeting of minds on the sale of pictures to the Soviet Union," said Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America.

Details will be worked out in the United States. Johnston emphasized the Soviet Union has not assumed there would be assistance toward the sale of Soviet pictures in the United States. He said also that the pictures the Russians buy will be from a list "we submit to them."

Met Opens Nov. 29

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—The 1948-49 Metropolitan Opera season will open the night of November 29, Edward Johnson, general manager, announced today. The season will last 16 weeks—two weeks less than last year.

Hundreds Seek Missing Couple

GLEN BURNIE, Md., Sept. 19 (AP) —As darkness brought a temporary halt to efforts of more than 1,000 volunteers who have been combing this area for some trace of John H. Mahlan and Mary C. Kline, authorities reported little in the way of new clues to the strange disappearances.

The 25-year-old Glen Burnie post office worker and his 18-year-old companion left Miss Kline's home early Friday night, saying they were going for a ride and would be back soon.

Mahlan's blood-scattered, bullet marked automobile was found yesterday morning in a sandy patch off Old Annapolis Road, about 15 miles south of Baltimore.

Chief John H. Souers, of the Anne Arundel County Police Department, said, after he dismissed the weary searching parties:

"Nothing positive at all has turned up. The situation is just the same as when the search started after the car was found.

"Until we find a body, we have very little to go on."

A set of keys belonging to Mahlan was found today near the spot where the car was parked, but Souers did not consider the find as of prime importance.

Meanwhile, he awaited reports of fingerprints found in the automobile and of an analysis of blood stains in the sedan.

The search will resume tomorrow.

Israel Approves Measures To Deal With Terrorists

Scores Of Sternists Seized In Jerusalem

TEL AVIV, Israel, Sept. 19 (AP)—Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok told the acting United Nations mediator tonight Israel has "adopted special emergency regulations giving it sweeping powers to take action against terrorist organizations, their members and accomplices."

Informed sources said the laws are strong enough to include Irgun Zval Leumi as well as the Stern Gang, which Israel accuses of the assassination Friday of Count Folke Bernadotte.

His successor, Ralph J. Bunche, heard from Shertok that 150 members of the Stern group (fighters for the freedom of Israel) have been arrested in Jerusalem and over 50 seized in Tel Aviv and elsewhere.

(Jerusalem dispatches said 200 Sternists were arrested there and carted off to Haifa for dispersal in the Israeli army.)

"There seems to be little doubt that the group calling itself Hazit Hamoledeth—the Fatherland Front—which has acknowledged authorship of the crime, is an arm of the dissident organization, Fighters for the Freedom of Israel," Shertok said.

He told Bunche "vigorous investigations are proceeding to probe deeper into the mystery of the crime and discover the real culprits."

The Foreign Minister said suspects will be paraded before eyewitnesses of the assassination soon. Lt. Col. Andre Pierre Serot, of France, Bernadotte's senior aide in Jerusalem, was killed with him.

"At an extraordinary meeting last night, the government unanimously approved measures already taken in Jerusalem and elsewhere and decided on the most vigorous prosecution of the investigation and on action against the Fighters for the Freedom of Israel," Shertok said.

He said the new regulations will be promulgated in a day or two and added:

"Further measures against terrorism, with a view to tracking down the assassins, are under consideration."

Irgun has already been ordered dissolved in Israeli territory.

Haifa was the scene of a final Holy Land tribute to Bernadotte and Serot.

As a bugle sounded "last post" a white United Nations plane left Haifa for Rhodes on the first stage of a trip to return the victims to Sweden and France.

N. Y. Truck Tieup Ends

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—New York's 19-day-old trucking tie-up was virtually at an end today, with operators bowing to the demands of striking AFL teamsters.

High Seas, Winds Batter Grounded British Vessel

Fisherman Casts Hook And Sinker Through Plane

YONKERS, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—Today's fish story:

An enthusiastic angler cast his line with such force from the Yonkers seaplane base that hook and sinker passed through both sides of a seaplane anchored there.

Pilot Francis Houle, in the plane, said the hook barely missed his face.

Aid Speeding To Ship Carrying 73 Persons

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 19—(AP)—A United States Navy vessel plowed through stormy seas tonight to reach the British freighter Lochmonar, battered by gales and reported "in bad shape" with 73 persons aboard.

The 9,000-ton Lochmonar, her forepeak flooded and water pouring into No. 1 hold, lay hard aground on Little Cayman Island scarcely 100 miles from the center of a howling hurricane with winds of 115 miles an hour.

"We're in bad shape," the Lochmonar radioed Coast Guard headquarters here. "Fear we are breaking up. Need immediate assistance."

Easterly gales and heavy seas pounded the vessel, her bow pointed directly northward in only 18 feet of water. Normally a vessel of that size draws about 30 feet.

Storm Picks Up Force

Meanwhile, the hurricane picked up force and its whirling winds increased from 85 to 115 miles an hour. It was about 55 miles west northwest of Grand Cayman Island, moving northwest about six miles an hour.

The diameter of the hurricane "eye" was only about five miles, the Weather Bureau said, pointing out it was a very small but severe hurricane. Some increase in intensity was expected.

Hurricane hunters in the Navy and Air Forces began a 24-hour watch, putting radar aircraft into the sky to watch the whirling disturbance as it headed toward the Northwestern Caribbean.

The entire western end of Cuba was closed to flying as a precautionary measure and the big Rancho Boyeros Airport at Havana was shut down until further notice.

Propeller Out of Water

A Navy plane which flew over the Lochmonar today reported part of the rudder and propellor were out of water and a strong southeast gale pounded the vessel, threatening to turn it sideways on the beach and perhaps toss it on its side.

The Lochmonar flew no distress flags or signals, the Navy plane said. Crew members lined the rail and waved as the plane passed at crow's nest level.

Sixty-seven of those on board were crewmen and six were passengers. The ship was sailing for Cienfuegos, Cuba, from Cristobal, Canal Zone.

One of the last messages from the ship reported "winds are increasing."

Assembly Backs Queuille Program

PARIS, Sept. 19 (AP)—The National Assembly approved today the program of Premier Henry Queuille for increased taxes and government economy.

It was an endorsement that his two predecessors, Robert Schuman and Andre Marie, lost their jobs trying to get.

The program, endorsed after an all-night session, will become law after approval by the Council of the Republic—the upper house in the Parliament. No serious difficulties were foreseen there.

The new laws will put France in a position to ask permission of the United States to use a blocked fund of about 80,000,000 francs (about $260,000,000) for reconstruction.

This represents the franc equivalent of American grants to France under the European recovery program.

The new taxes are on income, business volume, automobiles, tobacco and other items. They are expected to bring in another 80,000,000,000 francs in annual revenue.

Queuille also plans to save 20,000,000,000 francs (about $65,000,000) a year bu cutting the number of government employes.

Leader Of Burma's Fight Against Reds Is Killed

RANGOON, Burma, Sept. 19 (AP)—Burma's efforts to smash a Communist-led rebellion suffered a new blow today with the assassination of Brig. U Tin Tut.

Official sources asknowledged a state of emergency existed throughout the strife-torn fledgling republic.

Five Persons Killed When Small Diesel Train Strikes Auto

AVON LAKE, Ia., Sept. 19 (AP)—Five persons were killed and two others were injured today when the car in which they were riding was struck by a Des Moines-bound small Diesel passenger train.

The dead:

Mrs. Lorene Kauzlarich, 29; her son, David, 7; Milton Iserman, Mrs. Dorothy Iserman, wife of Milton, and their daughter, Sandra Iserman.

The injured were Anton C. Kauzlarich, 29, husband of Mrs. Lorene Kauzlarich, and father of David, and Doris Iserman, 8, another daughter of the Isermans.

The Kauzlarich and Iserman families lived next door to each other in Des Moines, and were en route to Avon Lake on a fishing trip when the accident occurred shortly after noon.

C. E. Mowery, conductor on the train, said it was traveling about 30 miles an hour at the time of the crash.

Communists Stage Coup, Seize Power In Indonesia City

"Soviet" Regime Set Up, President Says

BATAVIA, Java, Sept. 19 (AP)—Communists have overthrown the government in the Indonesian city of Madioen and set up "a Soviet" regime, President Soekarno announced today.

The President immediately proclaimed martial law for all workers in vital industries throughout the Indonesian republic and warned that "this seizure of power by the Communists may be regarded as the start for seizing the whole republic."

Republic Threatened

Soekarno said the republic was in grave danger and called for the recapture of Madioen as soon as possible.

Speaking over the Jogjakarta radio, the President said "Musso (Moscow-trained Communist) and his Communist Party staged a coup, seized power in Madioen and established there a soviet government under his leadership."

He said the insurgents were aided by a brigade of the Republican army and a unit of the Peoples army (Laskar).

The Ministry of Information said the coup probably was Moscow-inspired.

Curfew Is Ordered

A Jogjakarta radio broadcast said the government is using all available means to restore order and regain control.

The provincial administration immediately ordered a curfew, announced severe penalties against looting, and required all persons to carry identification papers.

President Soekarno broadcast an appeal to his people to stand behind the government. He denounced Communist Leader Musso, recently returned from Russia, as a "traitor."

Masked Bandits Break Up Party

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., Sept. 19 (AP) — Seven masked men, armed with Garand Army rifles and a sub-machine gun, invaded a private party here before dawn today and escaped with an estimated $2,500 in cash and jewelry.

Police said the men made their getaway in four cars parked outside the Boat House where the party was being held, just outside the Virginia Beach city limits.

Three of the cars, they said, had been recovered by late afternoon but the fourth was still missing.

City, county and state police threw up roadblocks on all routes leading out of Princess Anne County to head off the bandits. A spokesman said authorities were "certain" the men had not left the county.

500 Villagers Reported Killed In Landslide

CALCUTTA, Sept. 19 (AP)—Reports reaching here tonight said 500 villagers are believed to have perished in a landslide on the Assam-Tibetan border.

Whole villages are said to have been wiped out in the landslide, described as being four miles wide. The area is said to be unapproachable, and there are no details.

Impaled On Post

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 19 (AP)—Surgeons removed a two-foot wooden stake today from the back of Mrs. Aleda Johnson, 33, who slipped on a sloping cellar door and was impaled on the small post used as a doorstop.

Moscow Sets Jan. 1 Deadline For Evacuation

Soviets Hope U. S. Will Follow Suit; Move Unexpected

MOSCOW, Sept. 19—(AP)—Russia said tonight all Soviet troops would be evacuated from Northern Korea by January 1, 1949, and expressed hope the United States would follow suit in Southern Korea.

The announcement was made in a decree of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (parliament).

Tass, the Soviet news agency, carried an official statement of the Soviet Foreign Ministry announcing the decision.

American diplomatic circles expressed surprise at the Soviet move. Informants said they did not expect the Russians to withdraw from Northern Korea until the Americans evacuated Southern Korea.

When the Russians proposed a year ago to withdraw their armies from Korea if the Americans did likewise, observers in the United States Embassy here interpreted it as "primarily a propaganda maneuver."

They admitted surprise that the withdrawal order was issued regardless whether the American troops remain in Southern Korea. They said this latest Soviet move creates an entirely new situation in Korea.

A Moscow broadcast heard in London said withdrawal of all Soviet troops from Northern Korea would begin "not later than the second half of October" and will be completed by January 1, 1949.

Size of Forces Not Estimated

It gave no estimate of the size of the Soviet forces which now occupy Northern Korea.

The Russian action was in line with the demand by the Soviet-sponsored Northern Korean government that United States and Russia withdraw their forces from the entire country.

Western sources have said that such a step in the divided nation might be a prelude to civil war.

The Moscow radio relayed an announcement issued by the Soviet Foreign Ministry which said:

"The question of simultaneous withdrawal of Soviet and United by the Supreme National Assembly of Korea, was referred by the Soviet government to the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (parliament)."

The Presidium (executive agency) it added, "recognized it as opportune to execute the withdrawal of Soviet troops from North Korea, expressing the hope the United States government would agree to withdrawal of United States troops from South Korea."

(In Washington, the State Department had not received word of Russia's statement. One official said he doubted if it would affect immediate future. The Korean sembly.

(Some observers felt the Russian announcement would inspire an attitude of wait-and-see what Moscow actually does.

(The United States was last reported in May to have about 30,000 troops in Southern Korea. It has been estimated that the new Southern Korea republic has a defence force of about 60,000 men. This is far less than the estimated Communist-trained force of 200,000 in the north. Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, who until recently commanded United States troops in Korea, said in Washington September 10 that American forces likely will not be withdrawn until final decisions are reached as to Korea's future.)

Northern Korea was occupied by Soviet troops after the war with Japan. United States troops occupied the southern half. Separate governments have been established in the two parts, with the southern government having United Nations sponsorship.

12 Lose Lives In Crash Of RAF Plane Into Crowd

MANSTON, England, Sept. 19 (AP) — Two more victims died today, raising to 12 the number killed in the crash of a Mosquito bomber into a crowd near an RAF airport yesterday.

Physicians said three others are in critical condition.

The two-engined plane, stunting in a commemorative "Battle of Britain" air show, crashed on a crowded highway.

"Pronounced Shift"

South Scores Top Income Gain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP) — Strides made in industrial development were credited today with giving the South and West the biggest income gains in the nation from 1929 through 1947. Government payments helped, too.

The Commerce Department, in a study of long-range regional trends in income payments to individuals, said there was a "pronounced relative shift of income from the New England and middle eastern regions to the South and West."

All regions shared in the general increase that lifted average income per person to $1,323 last year, or nearly double the average of $680 for 1929. But the South and West scored the biggest percentage gains because they started from farther back.

Here's the regional score on the per-person average advance:

Southeast (Ala., Ark., Fla., Ga., Ky., La., Miss., N. C., S. C., Tenn. and Va.)—from $344 in 1929 to $883 in 1947, a 157 per cent gain.

Southwest (Ariz., N. Mex., Okla. and Texas)—$464 to $1,081, a 133 per cent gain.

Northwest (Colo., Idaho, Kans., Mont., Neb., N. Dak., S. Dak., Utah and Wyo.)—$534 to $1,373, a 157 per cent gain.

Far West (Calif., Nev., Ore., and Wash.)—$865 to $1,559, an 80 per cent gain.

New England (Conn., Me., Mass., N. H., R. I., and Vt.)—$838 to $1,444, a 72 per cent gain.

Middle East (Dela., D. C., Md., N. J., N. Y., Pa. and W. Va.)—$926 to $1,559, a 68 per cent gain.

Central (Ill., Ind., Iowa, Mich., Minn., Mo., Ohio, and Wisc)—$720 to $1,391, a 93 per cent gain.

Despite their loss of relative position, the middle eastern states shared top honors for average income last year with the Far West.

Anti-Inflation Step

Credit Controls Effective Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Installment buying returns to federal control tomorrow.

Down payments and length of time to pay will be governed. Ordinary charge accounts won't.

Most consumer goods costing $50 to $5,000 are covered.

Easy payment loans are time-limited.

It is an anti-inflation step taken by Congress. President Truman said it is only "a tiny fraction" of what is needed.

The Federal Reserve Board made the rules. There are criminal penalties, and the board also has the power to put a violator out of credit business.

Here are the terms:

After down payment, 18 months to pay if the balance exceeds $1,000, 15 months if $1,000 or less.

One-third down on automobiles.

Twenty per cent down on cook stoves, dishwashers, ironers, refrigerators, washing machines, air conditioners, radios, phonographs, television sets, sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, furniture and rugs.

Personal loans of lending houses must be repaid within 15 to 18 months depending on the size; if over $1,000 the minimum monthly payment is $70.

Exempt from credit control are medical, dental, hospital, educational and funeral expenses; loans for real estate and home improvement; loans to pay for fire and casulty insurance; business or agricultural loans; credit to dealers who buy goods for resale; loans to federal, state or local governments, or to religious, charitable and educational organizations, and any credit under the government's rehabilitation and readjustment programs.

Some items which ones were under credit controls, but were not included in the new regulations, are pianos and other musical instruments, silverware and jewelry.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Several years ago, Oscar Parkes, a customers' man in a New York brokerage house, was assigned to service the account of a Miss Genevieve Knowland who lived outside Morristown, N. J. When he went to see her he found she was a very rich woman who was confined to her bed a good part of the time because of a painful and incurable bone disease.

Billy Rose

On his first visit, Oscar charmed and impressed the unhappy lady. On his second, he brought her a basket of imported goodies, and shortly thereafter was invited to spend a week end at her place.

Six months later, Parkes asked the invalid to marry him. "This may not be a story-book romance," he told her, "but we aren't kids any more and we both know what we want out of life. I enjoy your company and get a kick out of helping you, and I think we'd be good for each other.

Genevieve's friends were shocked when they heard of the marriage, but after a year they had to admit it was turning out well. Parkes couldn't do enough for his ailing wife, and had the happy knack of treating her as a normal person rather than as a cripple. He administered her securities and properties with considerable skill, and what was even more impressive, insisted on paying his fair share of the household expenses. The second year of their marriage Genevieve changed her will and made him sole beneficiary. "It's little enough for the happines Oscar has brought me," she told her lawyers.

When Parkes learned what his wife had done, he decided to do the thing which had been in the back of his mind ever since he first met Genevieve Knowland—murder her. Besides, a girl named Rita in New York was getting restless and threatening in find a rich man to match Oscar's rich woman. "The perfect crime," he said to himself, "isn't one which baffles the police, but one the police never know about. Let's figure it out, step-by-step, with no squeaks in any of the steps."

Sept No. 1 was to tell his wife about a new therapy which a Belgian specialist had evolved for treating bone diseases, and to persuade her to let him take her abroad. This was easy. Although Genevieve was tired of specialists, she was touched by her husband's thoughtfulness and agreed.

Step No. 2 was to tell their friends that they would sail on the 9th of October, two days after their second wedding anniversary, and to suggest that no one see them off on the boat because of Genevieve's nervous condition.

Step No. 3 was to arrange for the express company to pick up their luggage on the afternoon of the 7th, and to notify the servants that the house was to be closed up and that their employment would terminate on that day.

That finished the preliminaries. All that remained was to kill his wife on their anniversary night, dispose of the body, drive to New York the morning of the 8th, pick up Rita, register with her at a hotel as Mr. and Mrs. Parkes, and sail the next day for Europe. A month later he would cable from Brussels that his wife had died, had been cremated, and he was bringing the ashes back to Morristown. And then cash in the will.

The day of the murder, Parkes gave Genevieve a hand-tooled traveling case as a anniversary present, and after dinner he assembled the servants, thanked them for their many kindnesses and handed them their severance pay.

Then he went to the room where his wife was resting and sat down on the bed next to her. Her eyes were half-closed and there was a smile on her face as he put his hands around her neck and squeezed until the life within her choked up and died.

At 2 a. m. Parkes dressed the corpse, carried it to the car and propped it up in the back seat. Then he locked up the house and drove toward New York.

A few miles from Morristown he turned off on a side road and parked near a sign which announced that a garden apartment house was to be erected on the site. He carried the dead woman to the foot of a half-completed fill, and then hid the body beneath one of the piles of loose dirt. He knew that in a few hours dump trucks would back up to the fill and bury the corpse beneath tons of dirt. And in six months, 15 feet above Genevieve, wives would be hanging out wash and kids would be rolling hoops.

When he had finished, Parkes got back in his car and drove to New York where he picked up Rita and registered at a hotel. Everything was according to plan.

Late the following afternoon while his girl was out doing some last-minute shopping, the buzzer sounded. Parkes opened the door and found himself facing two men.

"We're from Morristown Police Headquarters," said one of them, flashing a badge. "We'd like to talk to Mrs. Parkes."

"She isn't here right now," said Oscar. "She's out shopping."

"Do you mind if we wait?" said one of the detectives.

Parkes knew it was all over—Rita was due back shortly. But where had his figuring gone wrong? Where was the loophole?

He looked out the window for a minute and then turned back to the detectives. "There's no use dragging this out," he said. "I admit I killed my wife—but how did you know?"

The detectives looked at each other. "Until you told us," said the man who had flashed the badge, "we didn't know a thing. This morning we got an unusual letter at headquarters and the sergeant told us to check up on it. When we couldn't find anybody at your house, we located your butler and he told us that Mrs. Parkes had given him the letter to mail a few minutes before you dismissed him. We asked him where we might find you, and he said that you usually stopped at this hotel when you were in New York. Maybe you'd like to read the letter."

It was addressed to the Police Department of Morristown, and read:

"To whom it may concern:

"I cannot go on being a burden to the man I love, and so I have decided to take my own life. Recently the pain has been too much, and since I am of no use to him or myself, I see no reason why I should hang on. After I finish this letter, I shall take the necessary number of sleeping tablets to set us both free.

"I hope my husband will forgive me and accept this grim anniversary gift in the spirit in which it is intended.

Sincerely,
Genevieve Knowland Parkes."

Reserve Center Officially Open For Training

Rep. Beall Presides At Commissioning

Over 500 persons witnessed the commissioning of the new Naval and Marine Reserve Training Center on McKaig's Hill presided over by Rep. J. Glenn Beall (R-Allegany).

Rear Admiral Walden Lee Ainsworth, commandant of the Fifth Naval District, Norfolk, Va., outlined to the men of the two units what would be expected of them in an emergency and discussed briefly world events.

He then gave a flag to a color guard who raised it and the Center was commissioned.

Captain Valery Havard, Jr., Naval Reserve director for the district, reviewed the history of the center and emphasized the Navy's appreciation for the cooperation received from the Mayor and Council of Cumberland and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners who joined to provide the necessary land for the building.

Col. Luther A. Brown, Washington, director of the Fifth Marine Reserve District, as well as Capt. Havard outlined the nature of the reserve programs.

The ceremony was highlighted by an informal concert by the 40-member Quantico Marine Base Band which was flown here for the purpose.

Odm. Ainswort hand his party, who flew here from Norfolk, in an R4D (DC-3) returned to the base later in the afternoon.

The commissioning schedule was upset somewhat by a short afternoon rain. When rain threatened, it was decided to speed up the ceremony but before it could start the rain began. The program finally got underway shortly before 3 p. m. the official starting time.

The Center, which has cost $750,000 and is not quite completed, will now be the center of activities for both Reserve units.

Troxell Warnich, 46-year-old Moscow resident, who was struck at about 10:15 p. m. Saturday night by deisel engine No. 180 of the Western Maryland Railroad while sitting on the railroad ties, was described in "fair" condition by attaches of Miner's Hospital, Frostburg last night.

Warnick was admitted to the hospital shortly before midnight Saturday and is reported to be suffering from a head injury. X-rays are to be taken today.

Trooper W. M. Kreger of the Maryland State Police, who investigated the accident, said that the engineer, W. M. Kreger, 38 Waverly Terrace, did not see the man until too late to stop the engine.

The engine was traveling west toward Westernport and struck Warnick about 150 feet north of the railroad crossing in Barton.

The trainmen notified State Police and Boal's ambulance, Westernport, was called to coney the man to the hospital.

Cresaptown Will Air Problems Of Sanitary District

Lines For Taxing Area Suggested

Discussion of a special taxing area with a vote on the possibilities of three forms of local government will be discussed at a meeting of the Cresaptown Civic Improvement Association to be held in the Cresaptown School September 30 at 8 p. m.

Tentative boundaries for a proposed sanitary district for Cresaptown were announced Thursday night at a meeting of the association.

The tentative boundaries, subject to discussion and change at the next meeting of the association, were set forth as:

Starting at Lone Oak Road to Brant Road, up to Scott's Residence, then along Dewey Shepherd's line to the Lime Quarry Road to a yellow house on the right. From the post located near that house to a line crossing Winchester Road at the Martz residence, then right over the mountain and along the Celanese line, south along the B. and O. tracks to the Mason Dairy barn and then back to the Lone Oak Road.

An attempt will be made at that meeting to set definite boundaries for a sanitary district for the Cresaptown area.

Dr. George Hall, chief engineer for the Maryland Department of Health, last night gave the go ahead for the plan, suggesting a sanitary district which includes only water and sewage facilities, as compared to more comprehensive plans.

Dr. Hall said he actually preferred sanitary districts established for an entire county under which each community can provide for its chief needs.

He also discussed the proposed plan and explained where actual authority would be invested for the project.

Prior to last night's meeting, Dr. Hall completed a survey of the facilities and watershed of the Cresaptown area.

Warning against too extended a territory for a sanitary district was given by Earl E. Manges, attorney for the Association. He advised including only the most densely populated areas, pointing out water could be sold to persons living outside the district.

Do some people lie knowing no one believes them?

Answer: Certainly. I have had people tell me many things they might have known that I would recognize were false if they had stopped to think about it. One man told me he had been an officer in World War I, although he knew I had seen his birth certificate, which showed he was ten years old at the time that the war ended. A person who lies to counteract a sense of personal inadequacy needs so desperately to believe his stories that he often becomes able, not only to fool himself, but to convince himself that he is fooling others.

Can lack of self-confidence cause stomach ulcers?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Manuel D. Zane of the Bronx (N. Y.) Veterans Hospital, after treating 85 veterans of both World Wars for this ailment. Chronic peptic ulcer generally is based on an underlying mental conflict, the victim of which "feels compelled to function in a certain manner despite anticipation of failure"—to attempt more than he feels he's capable of doing. If a patient can be helped to solve this conflict, chronic ulcers heal as quickly as acute ones, but his "character structure" is what requires treatment.

Can intelligence be acquired?

Answer: Not by anything that you can do after you've grown up. The kind of home you grew up in and the way that you were treated as a child had a decisive effect upon how far you were able to develop the intelligence that you were born with, but after your teens, it never will be any "higher." But you can grow to seem more intelligent to yourself and to others through the added knowledge and experience which you can always go on gaining. There may be a limit to how fast you can learn, but it's your own fault if you stop learning.

When the telephone rings

Pop hopes the call is from Luther, saying the hunting trip is on for tomorrow. Mom's expecting a Long Distance call from her mother. Sis will go into a tailspin if it isn't Harry, who hasn't yet asked her for a date Saturday night. Buddy hopes it's Joe, whom he was about to call to practice tying knots.

Whenever and wherever a telephone rings, in the home or office, there's a feeling of expectation. For the telephone serves so many different purposes in our daily lives. It helps make appointments, run errands, take orders, meet emergencies. Nothing gives so much for so little. And through the constant improvement of equipment and expansion of facilities, it's becoming a greater value every day.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Several years ago, Oscar Parkes, a customers' man in a New York brokerage house, was assigned to service the account of a Miss Genevieve Knowland who lived outside Morristown, N. J. When he went to see her he found she was a very rich woman who was confined to her bed a good part of the time because of a painful and incurable bone disease.

Billy Rose

On his first visit, Oscar charmed and impressed the unhappy lady. On his second, he brought her a basket of imported goodies, and shortly thereafter was invited to spend a week end at her place.

Six months later, Parkes asked the invalid to marry him. "This may not be a story-book romance," he told her, "but we aren't kids any more and we both know what we want out of life. I enjoy your company and get a kick out of helping you, and I think we'd be good for each other.

Genevieve's friends were shocked when they heard of the marriage, but after a year they had to admit it was turning out well. Parkes couldn't do enough for his ailing wife, and had the happy knack of treating her as a normal person rather than as a cripple. He administered her securities and properties with considerable skill, and what was even more impressive, insisted on paying his fair share of the household expenses. The second year of their marriage Genevieve changed her will and made him sole beneficiary. "It's little enough for the happines Oscar has brought me," she told her lawyers.

When Parkes learned what his wife had done, he decided to do the thing which had been in the back of his mind ever since he first met Genevieve Knowland—murder her. Besides, a girl named Rita in New York was getting restless and threatening to find a rich man to match Oscar's rich woman. "The perfect crime," he said to himself, "isn't one which baffles the police, but one the police never know about. Let's figure it out, step-by-step, with no squeaks in any of the steps."

Sept No. 1 was to tell his wife about a new therapy which a Belgian specialist had evolved for treating bone diseases, and to persuade her to let him take her abroad. This was easy. Although Genevieve was tired of specialists, she was touched by her husband's thoughtfulness and agreed.

Step No. 2 was to tell their friends that they would sail on the 9th of October, two days after their second wedding anniversary, and to suggest that no one see them off on the boat because of Genevieve's nervous condition.

Step No. 3 was to arrange for the express company to pick up their luggage on the afternoon of the 7th, and to notify the servants that the house was to be closed up and that their employment would terminate on that day.

That finished the preliminaries. All that remained was to kill his wife on their anniversary night, dispose of the body, drive to New York the morning of the 8th, pick up Rita, register with her at a hotel as Mr. and Mrs. Parkes, and sail the next day for Europe. A month later he would cable from Brussels that his wife had died, had been cremated, and he was bringing the ashes back to Morristown. And then cash in the will.

The day of the murder, Parkes gave Genevieve a hand-tooled traveling case as a anniversary present, and after dinner he assembled the servants, thanked them for their many kindnesses and handed them their severance pay.

Then he went to the room where his wife was resting and sat down on the bed next to her. Her eyes were half-closed and there was a smile on her face as he put his hands around her neck and squeezed until the life within her choked up and died.

At 2 a. m. Parkes dressed the corpse, carried it to the car and propped it up in the back seat. Then he locked up the house and drove toward New York.

A few miles from Morristown he turned off on a side road and parked near a sign which announced that a garden apartment house was to be erected on the site. He carried the dead woman to the foot of a half-completed fill, and then hid the body beneath one of the piles of loose dirt. He knew that in a few hours dump trucks would back up to the fill and bury the corpse beneath tons of dirt. And in six months, 15 feet above Genevieve, wives would be hanging out wash and kids would be rolling hoops.

When he had finished, Parkes got back in his car and drove to New York where he picked up Rita and registered at a hotel. Everything was according to plan.

Late the following afternoon while his girl was out doing some last-minute shopping, the buzzer sounded. Parkes opened the door and found himself facing two men.

"We're from Morristown Police Headquarters," said one of them, flashing a badge. "We'd like to talk to Mrs. Parkes."

"She isn't here right now," said Oscar. "She's out shopping."

"Do you mind if we wait?" said one of the detectives.

Parkes knew it was all over—Rita was due back shortly. But where had his figuring gone wrong? Where was the loophole?

He looked out the window for a minute and then turned back to the detectives. "There's no use dragging this out," he said. "I admit I killed my wife—but how did you know?"

The detectives looked at each other. "Until you told us," said the man who had flashed the badge, "we didn't know a thing. This morning we got an unusual letter at headquarters and the sergeant told us to check up on it. When we couldn't find anybody at your house, we located your butler and he told us that Mrs. Parkes had given him the letter to mail a few minutes before you dismissed him. We asked him where we might find you, and he said that you usually stopped at this hotel when you were in New York. Maybe you'd like to read the letter."

It was addressed to the Police Department of Morristown, and read:

"To whom it may concern:

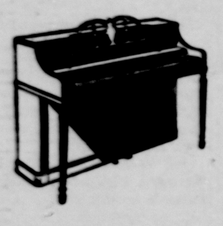

"I cannot go on being a burden to the man I love, and so I have decided to take my own life. Recently the pain has been too much, and since I am of no use to him or myself, I see no reason why I should hang on. After I finish this letter, I shall take the necessary number of sleeping tablets to set us both free.

"I hope my husband will forgive me and accept this grim anniversary gift in the spirit in which it is intended.

Sincerely,
Genevieve Knowland Parkes."

Reserve Center Officially Open For Training

Rep. Beall Presides At Commissioning

Over 500 persons witnessed the commissioning of the new Naval and Marine Reserve Training Center on McKaig's Hill presided over by Rep. J. Glenn Beall (R-Allegany).

Rear Admiral Walden Lee Ainsworth, commandant of the Fifth Naval District, Norfolk, Va., outlined to the men of the two units what would be expected of them in an emergency and discussed briefly world events.

He then gave a flag to a color guard who raised it and the Center was commissioned.

Captain Valery Havard, Jr., Naval Reserve director for the district, reviewed the history of the center and emphasized the Navy's appreciation for the cooperation received from the Mayor and Council of Cumberland and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners who joined to provide the necessary land for the building.

Col. Luther A. Brown, Washington, director of the Fifth Marine Reserve District, as well as Capt. Havard outlined the nature of the reserve programs.

The ceremony was highlighted by an informal concert by the 40-member Quantico Marine Base Band which was flown here for the purpose.

Odm. Ainswort hand his party, who flew here from Norfolk, in an R4D (DC-3) returned to the base later in the afternoon.

When the telephone rings

Pop hopes the call is from Luther, saying the hunting trip is on for tomorrow. Mom's expecting a Long Distance call from her mother. Sis will go into a tailspin if it isn't Harry, who hasn't yet asked her for a date Saturday night. Buddy hopes it's Joe, whom he was about to call to practice tying knots.

Whenever and wherever a telephone rings, in the home or office, there's a feeling of expectation. For the telephone serves so many different purposes in our daily lives. It helps make appointments, run errands, take orders, meet emergencies. Nothing gives so much for so little. And through the constant improvement of equipment and expansion of facilities, it's becoming a greater value every day.

Liquor Control Board's Recommendation Sensible

The Allegany County Liquor Control Board, which had been delegated by the Allegany County Commissioners to make a study of the proposal that the county go into the liquor business by establishing a wholesale liquor store as a revenue-producing source to ease the taxation burden on property owners, has come up with the recommendation that the idea be dropped.

The liquor board's conclusions were reached after a thorough survey of seven counties in Maryland which have liquor dispenseries, and which disclosed that those businesses have produced revenue to the respective counties ranging from $67,805.55 to Harford county, to $359,997.33 to Montgomery county—incomes not to be sneezed at. The board found, however, that none of those counties operated exclusively under a wholesale plan such as was called for by the Joint Resolution passed by the 1947 session of the Maryland General Assembly authorizing the County Commissioners to engage in that type of business exclusively.

The legislation had been sought at a time when the county was in dire need of new revenue. Rather than increase the tax rate on homeowners and businesses, the wholesale liquor store plan was put forward in the belief it offered the best solution. Since then, however, as pointed out in the report of the liquor board to the county commissioners, the need for extra monies to meet growing demands on the county government has been eased through the redistribution of taxes to counties from the state under the Sherbow Plan.

That view was taken by this newspaper at the time the County Commissioners called upon the liquor board to make the study, and it was suggested then that because the county was receiving, or would receive, additional revenue, the need for the wholesale liquor store had passed, for the time-being, at least.

Most people will agree with the liquor board's conclusions, and it is well that the county Commissioners ordered the report filed without action, one way or the other.

Basic Unity On Foreign Policy In United States

A critical moment in world affairs may pose a critical problem for the opposition party in a democracy. Its leaders may believe that the administration in power has committed grave blunders in foreign policy and may deem it a public duty to point out those errors. Yet they may hesitate to speak out, through fear of giving aid and comfort to the nation's enemies, who are eagerly waiting to pounce upon the slightest signs of national disunity.

This dilemma has faced the leadership of the Republican Party in the United States. The leaders are convinced that the policies of the Roosevelt and Truman Administration at Teheran, Yalta, Potsdam and elsewhere were well nigh disastrous to the world's hopes for peace and recovery. On specific issues they disagree with Truman-Marshall policies. In appealing to the voters for a four-year term of office in Washington, they obviously cannot seal their lips on foreign policy. At the same time, they must be on their guard against encouraging Soviet Russia, her satellites and the democracies of Western Europe—as Henry Wallace is frantically trying to encourage them —to believe that the United States is divided in its attitude toward Russo-Communist aggression.

The dilemma has been solved in a statesmanlike manner by the announcement of Senator Vandenberg, the Republican congressional leader in foreign affairs. Following a two-hour conference with Governor Dewey and with John Foster Dulles, just before he departed for the UN Assembly in Paris, the Senator said, "We shall be in internal controversy regarding many phases of foreign policy. But we shall not be in controversy over the basic fact that America is united against aggression and against the foes of freedom."

In other words, whatever valid disputes over foreign policy, past and present, may arise during the campaign between now and November, should Dewey and Warren be elected the United States will not deviate from the present course of Soviet-American relations. On the fundamental issue of foreign policy today the American people are solidly united.

Communists Now Seek To Form Own Union Group

When the Communists realized their strategy of boring from within the Democratic Party had been discovered, they set up a party they could control—the Progressive Party. Now they are about to apply a similar strategy in the field of organized labor. Rebuffed in efforts to control the CIO or AFL by a combination of events including organizations setting about to rid their ranks of such radicals and the provision of the Taft-Hartley Act to require leaders with such an affiliation to register, they seek to put together a group of unions they can handle.

The Communists have not publicly announced such a design. That is not the manner in which they work. But they have been accused of being committed to the scheme by Michael J. Quill, president of the Transport Workers Union, a CIO affiliate with more than 100,000 members. Quill said in an interview the other day that Communists told him as much when they tried to get him to put his union in the Wallace camp. They insisted he had to "go for Wallace even if it split them (the unions) right down the middle."

Quill refused. Later, when Quill supported a 10-cent subway fare in New York City in order to get a wage increase for members of his union, the Communists struck. Leftist aides who had worked with him for years turned against him. Quill has drawn the conclusion that his job as president will be in danger at the convention in December and he has begun to fight back.

In the interview, Quill complained that the Communists got their present grip on the TWU by pretending to cooperate with him and working to put their own tools in key posts. The only thing new is his charge that the Communists are ready to break up existing unions to create a new labor organization.

Trouble with the nation is mass thinking. Announcement that an 18-months-old baby in Massachusetts smokes cigars prompted no less than a dozen paragraphers to pull the gag about giving the child too much rope.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Cerebral Palsy

Many of our crippled children are victims of cerebral palsy. These youngsters have difficulty in controlling their muscles, especially those of the arms, legs, and head. At one time we believed that the brain had been injured during childbirth, but more recent studies have demonstrated that this is true only in a small percentage of cases. It is now the consensus that the defect in the brain is due to faulty development.

Dr. Van Dellen

We come into this world with mouths, noses, and ears of different size but the differences are usually within standard limits. It is only in a small percentage that these appendages are enormous or exceedingly tiny. The same differences can occur on the inside of the body and if the structure of the brain exceeds the average, changes in the behavior of the youngster are bound to occur. For example, if that part which is responsible for moving the arms and legs is defective, the victim will have difficulty in controlling the extremities. If the remainder is not affected, however, the child will be normal in every other respect. This is what occurs in cerebral palsy and explains why the disease has so many manifestations.

The majority fall into one of five categories. The spastic is incapacitated because the muscles are stiff. When he tries to move the arm, the leaders contract and prevent the normal performance of the intended motion. The youngster has difficulty, therefore, in eating, writing, walking, etc.

The athetoid variety is more noticeable because the individual is unable to control the movements of the affected parts. His arms and legs are in constant motion and flail about in a pitiful fashion. Facial grimaces are common, and since the movements cannot be controlled, it takes great courage for these youngsters to venture out-of-doors.

The third group suffer with ataxia. Balance is disturbed and many lose their sense of direction when a certain motion is intended. On trying to reach an object, they miss it by two or three inches. When bending over they fall. On the other hand, while not doing anything, they are quiet and no one would know that they are ill.

The fourth group is known as the rigidities. They are somewhat similar to the spastics except that the muscles are rigid instead of being tense. The last group is bothered with tremors and they shake in true "palsy" fashion.

The problem may seem hopeless but it is surprising how much can be done. Each type demands different treatment but, with encouragement and cooperation, the youngsters can learn to talk, walk, and use their hands. Braces and surgery may be needed. Special tables, chairs, bicycles, and other gadgets have been devised and nowadays these children can have just as much fun out of life as their healthier friends.

NORMAL REACTION

C. K. writes: What does an alkaline urine indicate?

Reply

Nothing significant. This reaction may be noted if the urine has remained in the bladder for sometime or the individual has ingested baking soda or an abundance of fruit. Tomorrow the urine may be acid. These fluctuations are common and, furthermore, this test is only part of the urinalysis. The amount of albumin, pus cells, and specific gravity is more important.

LATE DENTITION

Mrs. W. H. writes: My baby is 10 months old and has no teeth as yet. Is this unusual?

Reply

Teething usually occurs between the sixth and eighth months, but variations are common; consequently, the slight delay in your child can hardly be considered abnormal at this time. On the other hand, if the teeth fail to erupt during the next few months, an examination is advisable.

REPAIR ADVISED

Mrs. M. M. writes: I have had a small hernia for several years and sometimes it disappears completely. Would this type be dangerous if neglected?

Reply

Yes, because all hernias are subject to strangulation. Furthermore, the smaller the opening, the greater the chance for complications to occur.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Gov. Dewey Favors Government Salary Boosts; Michigan's Congressman Hoffman Puts Relatives On Public Payroll; GOP In Bitter Rhode Island Row

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—Governor Dewey has dropped the hint to one or two Republican Senators that he would like to engineer some boosts in Government salary after he comes to Washington next January.

Talking to Senator Style Bridges of New Hampshire, Chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, Dewey said he wanted to bring Paul Lockwood, his astute confidential adviser, and several others of his brain trust to help him in the White House.

"But," added the Governor, "they can't afford it on present Government salaries."

Therefore he asked Bridges to put through some legislation increasing Government pay scales.

"Well, if it's for Earl Warren, or any of the men around you," replied the New Hampshire Senator, who has a New England conscience when it comes to money, "I'm sure we can do it.

"But, if you're talking about bureaucrats personally," he continued, "Hell, no! I'm dead opposed to it. We've got to show that we're not going to load up the Government with expensive bureaucrats. Furthermore, I know that John Taber will feel the same way. A few key executives may deserve increases, but otherwise absolutely no."

Dewey let the matter drop. However, the conversation indicates that the new Republican President—if elected—isn't going to have altogether plain sailing with his Congress.

Note—Congress is sure to vote the Vice President a salary increase and give him a house—probably the colonial mansion once owned by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson. Gov. Warren was promised this before he accepted the Vice-Presidential nomination.

Michigander Uses Nepotism

Michigan's stock, garrulous Congressman Clare Hoffman considers himself a great protector of the public purse. However, he isn't so belligerent on that score when it comes to putting his own relatives on the public payroll.

Hoffman is the only member of Congress with no pockets in his pants. He gets his clothes made to order with no pockets, but doesn't seem to mind letting salary money get into the pockets of his relatives.

His son, Carl E. Hoffman, is paid $6,000 a year as counsel for the Expenditures Committee.

A granddaughter, Sarah Ann Hoffman, gets $3,200, the top salary of the Congressman's secretarial staff.

Little State Has Big Feud

Out-of-tate Republicans are so anxious to steal Rhode Island away from the Democrats this year that they have stepped right into the middle of a local scrap and split the GOP worse than ever.

Today's primary battle on the surface is over the GOP nomination for U. S. Senator. Actually, it goes deep into the roots of race and religious feeling and has aroused bitterness which may take years to heal.

The state GOP machine has been backing Thomas Pierpont Hazard for the Republican nomination against Republicans Walter Sundlun and Louis Jackvony, the first Jewish, the second Italian.

GOP state bosses are convinced that only a hard-headed Yankee can beat Democratic Senator Theodore Green in the showdown race, and national GOP leaders made the mistake of jumping in on the side of the machine. To this end, Winthrop Aldrich, head of the Chase National Bank, and former Connecticut Senator John Danaher, director of Republican Senatorial campaigns, tried to slip into Providence and raise money for bluestocking Hazard, against the Jewish and Italian candidates.

A hush-hush meeting was arranged at the swanky Hope Club by Richmond Viall, manager of Brown and Sharpe Manufacturing Co. News of the meeting leaked, and, caught in the glare of the public spotlight, Aldrich and Danaher hit the ceiling. Carefully screening everyone at the door, they finally went ahead with their meeting, but despite the secrecy here is what happened:

Nutmegs Don't Yield Dollars

Viall tried to squeeze $50,000 from wealthy Republicans present, but only got pledges for $9,200. Aldrich, though helping to call the meeting, protested that he wouldn't contribute to the primaries, though he made it clear that the local Republicans would get all the Wall Street money they needed—if Hazard got the nomination.

When candidate Sundlun, who is opposing Hazard, heard that his party was trying to raise funds, he called Viall and offered to contribute. But he warned that if the money was to be used in the primary, he wouldn't give a cent.

"We cannot accept your money," was the blunt reply.

Meanwhile, the Republican machine has brought in outside help to raise money and handle publicity for its endorsed candidates—Ketchum, Inc., of New York City, a professional soliciting agency. Its commission is 4 per cent of the take. Mrs. Eleanor Johnson of upstate Massachusetts, a professional organizer, was also hired at $125 per week, and Jack O'Keefe, a New York press agent, was put on the payroll in Rhode Island at $150 per week.

Note—Others who attended the secret. Hope Club meeting included Henry Sharpe, board president of Brown and Sharpe Manufacturing Co.; Robert Dresser, former executive vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers; Steven Wilson, president of Framm Corporation; Malcolm Chase Jr., local banker whose father is a director of the Chase National Bank; Baynard Ewing, wealthy attorney; Henry Fletcher, former Chairman of the Republican National Committee; H. Livingston Kelly Jr., treasurer for the Hazard campaign committee; and Thomas Casey Greene, Republican state chairman.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

An Ancient Art

Elbert Hubbard, who was in his day regarded as a sage among the Philistines—which was his own term for ordinary, go getting, hard-working, money-making Americans—once wrote a piece on Oliver Goldsmith, who while never a candidate for public office, somehow managed to live in the memory of man for nearly 175 years without the services of a press agent.

Goldsmith was an Irishman gifted with verbal facility. You may recall that he wrote that lovely poem:

"Sweet Auburn! loveliest village of the plain,
Where heath and plenty cheered the laboring swain,
Where smiling Spring the earliest visits paid.
And parting Summer's lingering blooms delayed—"

Well, when he came to London to look for a job, he hit upon a publisher of the "Monthly Review," a Mr. Griffiths, whose wife edited the paper with that hard-boiled attitude that lady-editors find so natural. In my own experience, when I did free-lance writing—as begging for crumbs is called in my profession—I only knew two lady-editors who gave such a scribbler as I was then—to say nothing of now—a chance. They were Clare Luce and Mrs. William Brown Meloney.

So Goldsmith worked for Mrs. Griffiths who permitted him to write brilliant articles to which she signed the names of great men. Hubbard says of this:

"Mrs. Griffiths looked after him closely, spurring him on when he lagged, correcting his copy, striking out such portions as showed too much genius and inserting a word here and there in order to make a purely neutral decoction, which it seems is what magazine readers have always desired."

Then Hubbard comments:

"Occasionally these articles were duly feathered by great men, as this gave them the required specific gravity. It is said that even in our day there are editors who employ convict labor in this way. But I am sure that this is not so, for we live in an age of competition, and it is just as cheap to hire the great men to supply twaddle direct as it is to employ foreign paupers to turn it out with the extra expense of elderly women to revise."

Now, there Hubbard was wrong. Many important articles that appeared in print—and even books—were never written by the person whose name is signed to them. Nor did he dictate the material nor did he do the research. This habit of having competent men do the thinking for incompetent men with great reputations has become so usual that ghost-writing has grown into a profession of large dimensions and the business of public relations, once called press-agenting, has almost reached the respectability of a science. In fact, no government agency, no great business, no association for the public welfare is without such a person who knows beyond doubt what the public wants and how to dish it out.

In the current campaign for the presidency, the ghost writers are men of importance because they are thinking for the man who will be President. Obviously, no one human being can prepare all the speeches that Messrs. Truman, Dewey and Wallace will deliver during the next month and a half. No man could do that even if he, like Henry Wallace, had nothing else to do. He therefore takes on "assistants."

The question is: Does he lay down the original line; does he turn into his own words what the "assistants" prepare or does he accept the document and read it with the profundity that the occasion requires—as though he had seen it before?

I do not like Mr. Truman's ghost and I recommend that he hire a new one. His is a weeping, wailing, moaning, crying ghost who is trying to scare the country. Someone called the output "The Era of Fear Speeches," but it is worse than that, because the fellow is vulgar.

They tell me that Sam Rosenman, Mr. Roosevelt's ghost, is back on the job, but the Truman speeches do not sound like Rosenman who has a gift for the happy phrase if not the consistent thought. It might be another—guy scared of his own words.

Roosevelt And Brain Trusters Responsible For High Prices

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 19.—Roosevelt and his brain trusters were responsible for present high prices although their intentions were probably the best. They did this by methods:—(1) By devaluating the dollars through increasing the price of gold; (2) By reducing the supply of goods through killing little pigs, plowing up cotton and paying farmers not to work; (3) By increasing purchasing power through encouraging labor unions to raise wages; (4) By reducing unemployment through putting millions on public payrolls and relief; (5) By printing billions of bonds and bank notes instead of financing the war in a businesslike way.

How To Reduce Prices

Prices could now be reduced just as easily by reversing all these processes, namely. (1) By reducing the price of gold; (2) By ceasing to guarantee farm prices and letting them fall to natural levels; (3) By discouraging labor monopolies and making labor subject to Anti-Trust Laws; (4) By reducing public payrolls, thus forcing government employees and those on "relief" to go to work producing something useful; and (5) By ceasing to peg the government bond and thereby reducing the money in circulation. These drastic steps, however, need not be necessary if we ourselves would do our part to correct the situation as I explained last week.

Why does not Mr. Truman do the above five things instead of scolding Congress for not pegging prices which would only make goods more scarce and develop tremendous black markets? The reason is that to do so would probably start the business cycle downward and bring about a "bust". No President wants to do this and Mr. Dewey will be no different in this regard than Mr. Truman. Just as we have to get sick before we will give up some bad habit and take care of our health, so a "bust" seems to be the only way to bring a nation to its senses. Its too bad, but it's human nature.

Taxes, Immigration and Peace

Two other things, however, could be done which would reduce prices and yet not bring on a depression. The first of these would be to reduc taxes. Everyone is now trying to pass his taxes on to the next fellow. Employees count as salary only what they take home in pay envelopes after taxes are deducted. Manufacturers and storekeepers add taxes to prices. Doctors and lawyers increase their fees enough to take care of their taxes so that they have the same left as before the Roosevelt Administration. Only investors and those living on dividends and interest are unable to pass along their taxes to the great middle class which is unjustly suffering today.

Another way to reduce prices would be to readjust immigration restrictions so as to admit from war-stricken Europe 1,000,000 good carpenters, bricklayers and painters who would gladly do an honest ten hour day's work for a fair pay. This would do more to reduce the cost of housing and to give homes to veterans than anything else. Our silly immigration and tariff laws were necessary when prices were too low and there was much unemployment; but these laws are not needed today. Just as their enaction resulted in higher prices, so their repeal today would result in lower prices, both directly now and in preventing further price increases due to another war.

How To Avoid War

So much for prices; but let me also add my little "two cents" worth about world peace. No United Nations; no big armies, navies, no airforces; no prayers or sermons will bring about World Peace so long as we in the United States live the life of Riley behind a great high fence and the rest of the world is half starving because it can't get jobs. We can postpone the day of reckoning and World War III by giving these European people "Marshall Charity Money"; but sooner or later we must let down these bars or fight. In the sight of God there may not be much difference between our Economic Curtain and Russia's Iron Curtain!

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—(INS)—Sideglances at celebrities:

A unique amateur art exhibit, featuring the work of many of the good-hearted and otherwise talented celebrities of this and other lands, will open at the Associated American Artists galleries next week.

The show and its proceeds, both at the gate and from the auction block, is for the benefit of the Urban League Service Fund which is doing valiant work in the field of bringing more and greater opportunities to American negroes.

Among those who have provided paintings, some of them delightfully cunny-thumbed, are Katharine Cornell, Noel Coward, Louis Bromfield, Joe Louis, Winston Churchill, Bill Robinson, Frank Sinatra, Mrs. Vincent Astor, Anita Colby, Jinx Falkenberg and Tex McCrary (who painted simultaneously from opposite sides of the canvas and met in the middle, like elegant sandhogs), and Edgar Bergen.

Also Dotty Kilgallen, Lena Horne, Bennett Cerf, Billy Rose (who painted a genuine Rembrandt), Bobo Rockefeller, Maggi McNellis, Mary Maggi McBride, the Earl of Warwick, Clifton Webb, Admiral Roger Wietzel, etc. etc., one of the latter being Sherman Billingsley.

Connoissuers of the distant future will note, reverently, that this was the show which introduced the work of a latent genius named Toots Shor. They will say, probably, that Shor did not find his true meter until he had misspent his youth and portly middle-age loafing around saloons with sportswriters and other humdrum millionaires.

They will compare this prolonged period of artistic gestation and frustration with the drab early banking career of post-impressionist Paul Gauguin, 1848-1903, ahem. Shor, however, reversed Gauguin. Gauguin was a bum only in his later years.

Retiring to his newly constructed $300,000 Garret, M'sieu Toots spit on his hands, grabbed a brush from a startled wall-painter and— in a burst of inspiration which will have his future biographers ricocheting kisses off their typewriter keys—painted a picture of the front of his saloon. Something believed to be a human being is entering. The painting is brilliantly titled: "Crum-Bum."

This canvas may possibly produce the liveliest bidding of the exhibit. Mrs. Shor is determined to have it back at any cost.

The Urban League should frame some of the letters of regret sent in by those who could not or would not grapple with the palette as well as some of the forwarding letters.

Esme O'Brien Sarnoff, in sending in her offering, wrote that it was her second painting, the first being a kitchen chair. She spoke of going to China for the duration of the exhibit. Maggi McNellis suggested that her effort might not arouse a furore in art circles, but would have the world of psyciatry mumbling in its beer.

Bernard F. Gimbel said he was sorry but that the only thing he had ever painted ("Many, Many Years Ago") was a town. Margaret Truman wrote that she didn't expect to be in New York for a time and was sorry.

Eugene Meyer of the Washington Post wrote a neat note to Mrs. Fleur Cowles, the prominent magazine editor who had issued the invitation. Mr. Meyer defaulted on odd grounds.

"I regret to inform you I am color blind," he wrote, "and therefore have not indulged my artistic and esthetic talents in a direction which requires at least a better sense of color than I have.

"If you are interested in knowing details, my troubles are red and green, which is the commonest form of color blindness. This means I do not recognize a pink when I see one. I think they are just greenhorns."

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

". . . Happy birthday, Dear C-54, happy birthday to you."

Yes, during the week of September 18th the air force is celebrating its first birthday at Lockheed Terminal in Los Angeles. It's so young that when it gets together with the Army and Navy, it has to wear elevator shoes.

Picture it. In honor of the great day 12,000 planes flying in beautiful precision. Then along comes one P-60 pilot who messes up the whole formation . . . he thinks he is the candle.

The party will have a big cake, but since there are so many men in the Air Force, they won't cut it with a knife. The C. O. will just yell "open mouths' 'and toss it into a propeller.

And they're going to play games there. Of course, when they play post office, it's no fun. They use a mail plane.

Naturally, at a birthday party, everybody brings presents. At first these men didn't know what they could give the Air Corps. Then they all got the same idea. On the 18th they're all going to sign up for another five years.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

In Your Small Corner

Nothing that any human being does, of an unselfish character, is ever performed in vain. Nor is it insignificant. Each of us, in our small corner, may send out a message that may travel to the far ends of the earth. We never know.

Carrie Chapman Catt, Grace Darling, Clara Barton, founder of the worldwide Red Cross, and great numbers of others, were just unknowns, in their small corners, until they did something about it, and initiated work that has made their names endeared throughout the world. Like the insignificant acorn, great growth results.

A friend of mine has just completed a campaign to raise funds to enlarge the children's hospital in his town. He did a magnificent job, at no pay whatsoever, but for the pure pleasure of having rendered a valuable service that may save the lives of thousands of children. He showed me a most appreciative letter from the management of that hospital, and he remarked that it was the most profitable service he had ever rendered. So greatly was the letter appreciated that it almost brought tears to his eyes —but they were tears of gratitude to those who had so recognized his efforts. Gratitude for service rendered is the most precious payment that any one can receive. He was assigned a small corner—but he filled it magnificently.

My boyhood days in a small Iowa town, brought me in contact with one of the most remarkable women I have ever known. She was the wife of a retired minister. Her name was Mrs. Brand. She lived in a small corner of the town, but she spread her smile and her good deeds to every corner. Regardless of race, color, or religion, this good woman was up early and late, never lacking the urge to do something for someone. She was very quiet and modest, with a perpetual smile upon her face. But she never let a day go by without the performing of some good deed that brought light into some human being's life. I am certain that there are scores of people, now living, who were recipients from her kindly heart.

There is a song that is perhaps familiar to millions which has a line in it—"You in your small corner and I in mine." Well, in this small newspaper corner, I hope and pray that much has radiated to bring new hope, new courage, and new vision to many. That will be satisfaction enough.

Liquor Control Board's Recommendation Sensible

The Allegany County Liquor Control Board, which had been delegated by the Allegany County Commissioners to make a study of the proposal that the county go into the liquor business by establishing a wholesale liquor store as a revenue-producing source to ease the taxation burden on property owners, has come up with the recommendation that the idea be dropped.

The liquor board's conclusions were reached after a thorough survey of seven counties in Maryland which have liquor dispenseries, and which disclosed that those businesses have produced revenue to the respective counties ranging from $67,805.55 to Harford county, to $359,997.33 to Montgomery county—incomes not to be sneezed at. The board found, however, that none of those counties operated exclusively under a wholesale plan such as was called for by the Joint Resolution passed by the 1947 session of the Maryland General Assembly authorizing the County Commissioners to engage in that type of business exclusively.

The legislation had been sought at a time when the county was in dire need of new revenue. Rather than increase the tax rate on homeowners and businesses, the wholesale liquor store plan was put forward in the belief it offered the best solution. Since then, however, as pointed out in the report of the liquor board to the county commissioners, the need for extra monies to meet growing demands on the county government has been eased through the redistribution of taxes to counties from the state under the Sherbow Plan.

That view was taken by this newspaper at the time the County Commissioners called upon the liquor board to make the study, and it was suggested then that because the county was receiving, or would receive, additional revenue, the need for the wholesale liquor store had passed, for the time-being, at least.

Most people will agree with the liquor board's conclusions, and it is well that the county Commissioners ordered the report filed without action, one way or the other.

Basic Unity On Foreign Policy In United States

A critical moment in world affairs may pose a critical problem for the opposition party in a democracy. Its leaders may believe that the administration in power has committed grave blunders in foreign policy and may deem it a public duty to point out those errors. Yet they may hesitate to speak out, through fear of giving aid and comfort to the nation's enemies, who are eagerly waiting to pounce upon the slightest signs of national disunity.

This dilemma has faced the leadership of the Republican Party in the United States. The leaders are convinced that the policies of the Roosevelt and Truman Administration at Teheran, Yalta, Potsdam and elsewhere were well nigh disastrous to the world's hopes for peace and recovery. On specific issues they disagree with Truman-Marshall policies. In appealing to the voters for a four-year term of office in Washington, they obviously cannot seal their lips on foreign policy. At the same time, they must be on their guard against encouraging Soviet Russia, her satellites and the democracies of Western Europe—as Henry Wallace is frantically trying to encourage them —to believe that the United States is divided in its attitude toward Russo-Communist aggression.

The dilemma has been solved in a statesmanlike manner by the announcement of Senator Vandenberg, the Republican congressional leader in foreign affairs. Following a two-hour conference with Governor Dewey and with John Foster Dulles, just before he departed for the UN Assembly in Paris, the Senator said, "We shall be in internal controversy regarding many phases of foreign policy. But we shall not be in controversy over the basic fact that America is united against aggression and against the foes of freedom."

In other words, whatever valid disputes over foreign policy, past and present, may arise during the campaign between now and November, should Dewey and Warren be elected the United States will not deviate from the present course of Soviet-American relations. On the fundamental issue of foreign policy today the American people are solidly united.

Communists Now Seek To Form Own Union Group

When the Communists realized their strategy of boring from within the Democratic Party had been discovered, they set up a party they could control—the Progressive Party. Now they are about to apply a similar strategy in the field of organized labor. Rebuffed in efforts to control the CIO or AFL by a combination of events including organizations setting about to rid their ranks of such radicals and the provision of the Taft-Hartley Act to require leaders with such an affiliation to register, they seek to put together a group of unions they can handle.

The Communists have not publicly announced such a design. That is not the manner in which they work. But they have been accused of being committed to the scheme by Michael J. Quill, president of the Transport Workers Union, a CIO affiliate with more than 100,000 members. Quill said in an interview the other day that Communists told him as much when they tried to get him to put his union in the Wallace camp. They insisted he had to "go for Wallace even if it split them (the unions) right down the middle."

Quill refused. Later, when Quill supported a 10-cent subway fare in New York City in order to get a wage increase for members of his union, the Communists struck. Leftist aides who had worked with him for years turned against him. Quill has drawn the conclusion that his job as president will be in danger at the convention in December and he has begun to fight back.

In the interview, Quill complained that the Communists got their present grip on the TWU by pretending to cooperate with him and working to put their own tools in key posts. The only thing new is his charge that the Communists are ready to break up existing unions to create a new labor organization.

Trouble with the nation is mass thinking. Announcement that an 18-months-old baby in Massachusetts smokes cigars prompted no less than a dozen paragraphers to pull the gag about giving the child too much rope.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Cerebral Palsy

Many of our crippled children are victims of cerebral palsy. These youngsters have difficulty in controlling their muscles, especially those of the arms, legs, and head. At one time we believed that the brain had been injured during childbirth, but more recent studies have demonstrated that this is true only in a small percentage of cases. It is now the consensus that the defect in the brain is due to faulty development.

Dr. Van Dellen

We come into this world with mouths, noses, and ears of different size but the differences are usually within standard limits. It is only in a small percentage that these appendages are enormous or exceedingly tiny. The same differences can occur on the inside of the body and if the structure of the brain exceeds the average, changes in the behavior of the youngster are bound to occur. For example, if that part which is responsible for moving the arms and legs is defective, the victim will have difficulty in controlling the extremities. If the remainder is not affected, however, the child will be normal in every other respect. This is what occurs in cerebral palsy and explains why the disease has so many manifestations.

The majority fall into one of five categories. The spastic is incapacitated because the muscles are stiff. When he tries to move the arm, the leaders contract and prevent the normal performance of the intended motion. The youngster has difficulty, therefore, in eating, writing, walking, etc.

The athetoid variety is more noticeable because the individual is unable to control the movements of the affected parts. His arms and legs are in constant motion and flail about in a pitiful fashion. Facial grimaces are common, and since the movements cannot be controlled, it takes great courage for these youngsters to venture out-of-doors.

The third group suffer with ataxia. Balance is disturbed and many lose their sense of direction when a certain motion is intended. On trying to reach an object, they miss it by two or three inches. When bending over they fall. On the other hand, while not doing anything, they are quiet and no one would know that they are ill.

The fourth group is known as the rigiditjes. They are somewhat similar to the spastics except that the muscles are rigid instead of being tense. The last group is bothered with tremors and they shake in true "palsy" fashion.

The problem may seem hopeless but it is surprising how much can be done. Each type demands different treatment but, with encouragement and cooperation, the youngsters can learn to talk, walk, and use their hands. Braces and surgery may be needed. Special tables, chairs, bicycles, and other gadgets have been devised and nowadays these children can have just as much fun out of life as their healthier friends.

NORMAL REACTION

C. K. writes: What does an alkaline urine indicate?

Reply

Nothing significant. This reaction may be noted if the urine has remained in the bladder for sometime or the individual has ingested baking soda or an abundance of fruit. Tomorrow the urine may be acid. These fluctuations are common and, furthermore, this test is only part of the urinalysis. The amount of albumin, pus cells, and specific gravity is more important.

LATE DENTITION

Mrs. W. H. writes: My baby is 10 months old and has no teeth as yet. Is this unusual?

Reply

Teething usually occurs between the sixth and eighth months, but variations are common; consequently, the slight delay in your child can hardly be considered abnormal at this time. On the other hand, if the teeth fail to erupt during the next few months, an examination is advisable.

REPAIR ADVISED

Mrs. M. M. writes: I have had a small hernia for several years and sometimes it disappears completely. Would this type be dangerous if neglected?

Reply

Yes, because all hernias are subject to strangulation. Furthermore, the smaller the opening, the greater the chance for complications to occur.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Gov. Dewey Favors Government Salary Boosts; Michigan's Congressman Hoffman Puts Relatives On Public Payroll; GOP In Bitter Rhode Island Row

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—Governor Dewey has dropped the hint to one or two Republican Senators that he would like to engineer some boosts in Government salary after he comes to Washington next January.

Talking to Senator Style Bridges of New Hampshire, Chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, Dewey said he wanted to bring Paul Lockwood, his astute confidential adviser, and several others of his brain trust to help him in the White House.

"But," added the Governor, "they can't afford it on present Government salaries."

Therefore he asked Bridges to put through some legislation increasing Government pay scales.

"Well, if it's for Earl Warren, or any of the men around you," replied the New Hampshire Senator, who has a New England conscience when it comes to money, "I'm sure we can do it.

"But, if you're talking about bureaucrats personally," he continued, "Hell, no! I'm dead opposed to it. We've got to show that we're not going to load up the Government with expensive bureaucrats. Furthermore, I know that John Taber will feel the same way. A few key executives may deserve increases, but otherwise absolutely no."

Dewey let the matter drop. However, the conversation indicates that the new Republican President—if elected—isn't going to have altogether plain sailing with his Congress.

Note—Congress is sure to vote the Vice President a salary increase and give him a house—probably the colonial mansion once owned by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson. Gov. Warren was promised this before he accepted the Vice-Presidential nomination.

Michigander Uses Nepotism

Michigan's stock, garrulous Congressman Clare Hoffman considers himself a great protector of the public purse. However, he isn't so belligerent on that score when it comes to putting his own relatives on the public payroll.

Hoffman is the only member of Congress with no pockets in his pants. He gets his clothes made to order with no pockets, but doesn't seem to mind letting salary money get into the pockets of his relatives.

His son, Carl E. Hoffman, is paid $6,000 a year as counsel for the Expenditures Committee.

A granddaughter, Sarah Ann Hoffman, gets $3,200, the top salary of the Congressman's secretarial staff.

Little State Has Big Feud

Out-of-tate Republicans are so anxious to steal Rhode Island away from the Democrats this year that they have stepped right into the middle of a local scrap and split the GOP worse than ever.

Today's primary battle on the surface is over the GOP nomination for U. S. Senator. Actually, it goes deep into the roots of race and religious feeling and has aroused bitterness which may take years to heal.

The state GOP machine has been backing Thomas Pierpont Hazard for the Republican nomination against Republicans Walter Sundlun and Louis Jackvony, the first Jewish, the second Italian.

GOP state bosses are convinced that only a hard-headed Yankee can beat Democratic Senator Theodore Green in the showdown race, and national GOP leaders made the mistake of jumping in on the side of the machine. To this end, Winthrop Aldrich, head of the Chase National Bank, and former Connecticut Senator John Danaher, director of Republican Senatorial campaigns, tried to slip into Providence and raise money for bluestocking Hazard, against the Jewish and Italian candidates.

A hush-hush meeting was arranged at the swanky Hope Club by Richmond Viall, manager of Brown and Sharpe Manufacturing Co. News of the meeting leaked, and, caught in the glare of the public spotlight, Aldrich and Danaher hit the ceiling. Carefully screening everyone at the door, they finally went ahead with their meeting, but despite the secrecy here is what happened:

Nutmegs Don't Yield Dollars

Viall tried to squeeze $50,000 from wealthy Republicans present, but only got pledges for $9,200. Aldrich, though helping to call the meeting, protested that he wouldn't contribute to the primaries, though he made it clear that the local Republicans would get all the Wall Street money they needed—if Hazard got the nomination.

When candidate Sundlun, who is opposing Hazard, heard that his party was trying to raise funds, he called Viall and offered to contribute. But he warned that if the money was to be used in the primary, he wouldn't give a cent.

"We cannot accept your money," was the blunt reply.

Meanwhile, the Republican machine has brought in outside help to raise money and handle publicity for its endorsed candidates—Ketchum, Inc., of New York City, a professional soliciting agency. Its commission is 4 per cent of the take. Mrs. Eleanor Johnson of upstate Massachusetts, a professional organizer, was also hired at $125 per week, and Jack O'Keefe, a New York press agent, was put on the payroll in Rhode Island at $150 per week.

Note—Others who attended the secret Hope Club meeting included Henry Sharpe, board president of Brown and Sharpe Manufacturing Co.; Robert Dresser, former executive vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers; Steven Wilson, president of Framm Corporation; Malcolm Chase Jr., local banker whose father is a director of the Chase National Bank; Baynard Ewing, wealthy attorney; Henry Fletcher, former Chairman of the Republican National Committee; H. Livingston Kelly Jr., treasurer for the Hazard campaign committee; and Thomas Casey Greene, Republican state chairman.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

An Ancient Art

Elbert Hubbard, who was in his day regarded as a sage among the Philistines—which was his own term for ordinary, go getting, hard-working, money-making Americans—once wrote a piece on Oliver Goldsmith, who while never a candidate for public office, somehow managed to live in the memory of man for nearly 175 years without the services of a press agent.

Goldsmith was an Irishman gifted with verbal facility. You may recall that he wrote that lovely poem:

"Sweet Auburn! loveliest village of the plain,
Where heath and plenty cheered the laboring swain,
Where smiling Spring the earliest visits paid.
And parting Summer's lingering blooms delayed—"

Well, when he came to London to look for a job, he hit upon a publisher of the "Monthly Review," a Mr. Griffiths, whose wife edited the paper with that hard-boiled attitude that lady-editors find so natural. In my own experience, when I did free-lance writing—as begging for crumbs is called in my profession—I only knew two lady-editors who gave such a scribbler as I was then—to say nothing of now—a chance. They were Clare Luce and Mrs. William Brown Meloney.

So Goldsmith worked for Mrs. Griffiths who permitted him to write brilliant articles to which she signed the names of great men. Hubbard says of this:

"Mrs. Griffiths looked after him closely, spurring him on when he lagged, correcting his copy, striking out such portions as showed too much genius and inserting a word here and there in order to make a purely neutral decoction, which it seems is what magazine readers have always desired."

Then Hubbard comments:

"Occasionally these articles were duly feathered by great men, as this gave them the required specific gravity. It is said that even in our day there are editors who employ convict labor in this way. But I am sure that this is not so, for we live in an age of competition, and it is just as cheap to hire the great men to supply twaddle direct as it is to employ foreign paupers to turn it out with the extra expense of elderly women to revise."

Now, there Hubbard was wrong. Many important articles that appeared in print—and even books—were never written by the person whose name is signed to them. Nor did he dictate the material nor did he do the research. This habit of having competent men do the thinking for incompetent men with great reputations has become so usual that ghost-writing has grown into a profession of large dimensions and the business of public relations, once called press-agenting, has almost reached the respectability of a science. In fact, no government agency, no great business, no association for the public welfare is without such a person who knows beyond doubt what the public wants and how to dish it out.

In the current campaign for the presidency, the ghost writers are men of importance because they are thinking for the man who will be President. Obviously, no one human being can prepare all the speeches that Messrs. Truman, Dewey and Wallace will deliver during the next month and a half. No man could do that even if he, like Henry Wallace, had nothing else to do. He therefore takes on "assistants."

The question is: Does he lay down the original line; does he turn into his own words what the "assistants" prepare or does he accept the document and read it with the profundity that the occasion requires—as though he had seen it before?

I do not like Mr. Truman's ghost and I recommend that he hire a new one. His is a weeping, wailing, moaning, crying ghost who is trying to scare the country. Someone called the output "The Era of Fear Speeches," but it is worse than that, because the fellow is vulgar.

They tell me that Sam Rosenman, Mr. Roosevelt's ghost, is back on the job, but the Truman speeches do not sound like Rosenman who has a gift for the happy phrase if not the consistent thought. It might be another—guy scared of his own words.

Roosevelt And Brain Trusters Responsible For High Prices

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 19.—Roosevelt and his brain trusters were responsible for present high prices although their intentions were probably the best. They did this by methods:—(1) By devaluating the dollars through increasing the price of gold; (2) By reducing the supply of goods through killing little pigs, plowing up cotton and paying farmers not to work; (3) By increasing purchasing power through encouraging labor unions to raise wages; (4) By reducing unemployment through putting millions on public payrolls and relief; (5) By printing billions of bonds and bank notes instead of financing the war in a businesslike way.

How To Reduce Prices

Prices could now be reduced just as easily by reversing all these processes, namely. (1) By reducing the price of gold; (2) By ceasing to guarantee farm prices and letting them fall to natural levels; (3) By discouraging labor monopolies and making labor subject to Anti-Trust Laws; (4) By reducing public payrolls, thus forcing government employees and those on "relief" to go to work producing something useful; and (5) By ceasing to peg the government bond and thereby reducing the money in circulation. These drastic steps, however, need not be necessary if we ourselves would do our part to correct the situation as I explained last week.

Why does not Mr. Truman do the above five things instead of scolding Congress for not pegging prices which would only make goods more scarce and develop tremendous black markets? The reason is that to do so would probably start the business cycle downward and bring about a "bust". No President wants to do this and Mr. Dewey will be no different in this regard than Mr. Truman. Just as we have to get sick before we will give up some bad habit and take care of our health, so a "bust" seems to be the only way to bring a nation to its senses. Its too bad, but it's human nature.

Taxes, Immigration and Peace

Two other things, however, could be done which would reduce prices and yet not bring on a depression. The first of these would be to reduc taxes. Everyone is now trying to pass his taxes on to the next fellow. Employees count as salary only what they take home in pay envelopes after taxes are deducted. Manufacturers and storekeepers add taxes to prices. Doctors and lawyers increase their fees enough to take care of their taxes so that they have the same left as before the Roosevelt Administration. Only investors and those living on dividends and interest are unable to pass along their taxes to the great middle class which is unjustly suffering today.

Another way to reduce prices would be to readjust immigration restrictions so as to admit from war-stricken Europe 1,000,000 good carpenters, bricklayers and painters who would gladly do an honest ten hour day's work for a fair pay. This would do more to reduce the cost of housing and to give homes to veterans than anything else. Our silly immigration and tariff laws were necessary when prices were too low and there was much unemployment; but these laws are not needed today. Just as their enaction resulted in higher prices, so their repeal today would result in lower prices, both directly now and in preventing further price increases due to another war.

How To Avoid War

So much for prices; but let me also add my little "two cents" worth about world peace. No United Nations; no big armies, navies, no airforces; no prayers or sermons will bring about World Peace so long as we in the United States live the life of Riley behind a great high fence and the rest of the world is half starving because it can't get jobs. We can postpone the day of reckoning and World War III by giving these European people "Marshall Charity Money"; but sooner or later we must let down these bars or fight. In the sight of God there may not be much difference between our Economic Curtain and Russia's Iron Curtain!

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—(INS)—Sideglances at celebrities:

A unique amateur art exhibit, featuring the work of many of the good-hearted and otherwise talented celebrities of this and other lands, will open at the Associated American Artists galleries next week.

The show and its proceeds, both at the gate and from the auction block, is for the benefit of the Urban League Service Fund which is doing valiant work in the field of bringing more and greater opportunities to American negroes.

Among those who have provided paintings, some of them delightfully cunny-thumbed, are Katharine Cornell, Noel Coward, Louis Bromfield, Joe Louis, Winston Churchill, Bill Robinson, Frank Sinatra, Mrs. Vincent Astor, Anita Colby, Jinx Falkenberg and Tex McCrary (who painted simultaneously from opposite sides of the canvas and met in the middle, like elegant sandhogs), and Edgar Bergen.

Also Dotty Kilgallen, Lena Horne, Bennett Cerf, Billy Rose (who painted a genuine Rembrandt), Bobo Rockefeller, Maggi McNellis, Mary Maggi McBride, the Earl of Warwick, Clifton Webb, Admiral Roger Wietzel, etc. etc., one of the latter being Sherman Billingsley.

Connoissuers of the distant future will note, reverently, that this was the show which introduced the work of a latent genius named Toots Shor. They will say, probably, that Shor did not find his true meter until he had misspent his youth and portly middle-age loafing around saloons with sportswriters and other humdrum millionaires.

They will compare this prolonged period of artistic gestation and frustration with the drab early banking career of post-impressionist Paul Gauguin, 1848-1903, ahem. Shor, however, reversed Gauguin. Gauguin was a bum only in his later years.

Retiring to his newly constructed $300,000 Garret, M'sieu Toots spit on his hands, grabbed a brush from a startled wall-painter and— in a burst of inspiration which will have his future biographers ricocheting kisses off their typewriter keys—painted a picture of the front of his saloon. Something believed to be a human being is entering. The painting is brilliantly titled: "Crum-Bum."

This canvas may possibly produce the liveliest bidding of the exhibit. Mrs. Shor is determined to have it back at any cost.

The Urban League should frame some of the letters of regret sent in by those who could not or would not grapple with the palette as well as some of the forwarding letters.

Esme O'Brien Sarnoff, in sending in her offering, wrote that it was her second painting, the first being a kitchen chair. She spoke of going to China for the duration of the exhibit. Maggi McNellis suggested that her effort might not arouse a furore in art circles, but would have the world of psyciatry mumbling in its beer.

Bernard F. Gimbel said he was sorry but that the only thing he had ever painted ("Many, Many Years Ago") was a town. Margaret Truman wrote that she didn't expect to be in New York for a time and was sorry.

Eugene Meyer of the Washington Post wrote a neat note to Mrs. Fleur Cowles, the prominent magazine editor who had issued the invitation. Mr. Meyer defaulted on odd grounds.

"I regret to inform you I am color blind," he wrote, "and therefore have not indulged my artistic and esthetic talents in a direction which requires at least a better sense of color than I have.

"If you are interested in knowing details, my troubles are red and green, which is the commonest form of color blindness. This means I do not recognize a pink when I see one. I think they are just greenhorns."

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

In Your Small Corner

Nothing that any human being does, of an unselfish character, is ever performed in vain. Nor is it insignificant. Each of us, in our small corner, may send out a message that may travel to the far ends of the earth. We never know.

Carrie Chapman Catt, Grace Darling, Clara Barton, founder of the worldwide Red Cross, and great numbers of others, were just unknowns, in their small corners, until they did something about it, and initiated work that has made their names endeared throughout the world. Like the insignificant acorn, great growth results.

A friend of mine has just completed a campaign to raise funds to enlarge the children's hospital in his town. He did a magnificent job, at no pay whatsoever, but for the pure pleasure of having rendered a valuable service that may save the lives of thousands of children. He showed me a most appreciative letter from the management of that hospital, and he remarked that it was the most profitable service he had ever rendered. So greatly was the letter appreciated that it almost brought tears to his eyes —but they were tears of gratitude to those who had so recognized his efforts. Gratitude for service rendered is the most precious payment that any one can receive. He was assigned a small corner—but he filled it magnificently.

My boyhood days in a small Iowa town, brought me in contact with one of the most remarkable women I have ever known. She was the wife of a retired minister. Her name was Mrs. Brand. She lived in a small corner of the town, but she spread her smile and her good deeds to every corner. Regardless of race, color, or religion, this good woman was up early and late, never lacking the urge to do something for someone. She was very quiet and modest, with a perpetual smile upon her face. But she never let a day go by without the performing of some good deed that brought light into some human being's life. I am certain that there are scores of people, now living, who were recipients from her kindly heart.

There is a song that is perhaps familiar to millions which has a line in it—"You in your small corner and I in mine." Well, in this small newspaper corner, I hope and pray that much has radiated to bring new hope, new courage, and new vision to many. That will be satisfaction enough.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

". . . Happy birthday, Dear C-54, happy birthday to you."

Yes, during the week of September 18th the air force is celebrating its first birthday at Lockheed Terminal in Los Angeles. It's so young that when it gets together with the Army and Navy, it has to wear elevator shoes.

Picture it. In honor of the great day 12,000 planes flying in beautiful precision. Then along comes one P-60 pilot who messes up the whole formation . . . he thinks he is the candle.

The party will have a big cake, but since there are so many men in the Air Force, they won't cut it with a knife. The C. O. will just yell "open mouths" and toss it into a propeller.

And they're going to play games there. Of course, when they play post office, it's no fun. They use a mail plane.

Naturally, at a birthday party, everybody brings presents. At first these men didn't know what they could give the Air Corps. Then they all got the same idea. On the 18th they're all going to sign up for another five years.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19 (INS)—Robert Montgomery has just pulled off the movie coup of the year in a deal which gives him the rights to all the Theater Guild's valuable stage plays.

Lionel Barrymore

The Theater Guild has produced many of the outstanding Broadway hits, and every studio in Hollywood has, from time to time, tried to get the motion picture rights to them.

Bob, who is in New York, made the deal with Lawrence Langner and Theresa Halburn, executives of the Guild.

The contract gives Montgomery the rights to all Theater Guild plays — those which have been filmed and those which haven't, as well as to all future Guild plays. He'll make them himself for Neptune Productions, his own company, at the Universal - International Studio.

Susan Hayward, who has become one of our most-sought-after actresses in the last few years, will probably make her next picture on the 20th Century-Fox lot.

Otto Preminger, who is producing "The Cloak Of Innocence," an original by Ketti Fringes, has sent Susan the script to read. I suppose Walter Wanger will loan her, because to be directed by Otto Preminger is always helpful to any star, no matter how important.

Jeanne Crain is expecting a baby—yes, she admits it now after denying it to this writer—so, she is out and Anne Baxter is in "You're My Everything" with Dan Dailey Jr. Actually, Anne has wanted to do this story ever since she read it in a national magazine authored by Georgie Jessel.

George wrote a very funny piece about two actors who have a baby and the offspring becomes a bigger star than they have ever been and practically wrecks the careers of Ma and Pa.

Chatter in Hollywood:

Passing my table at a Beverly Hills restaurant was Lou Holtz with a pretty girl named Carmen Orfeld on his arm. He stopped to say "This is my girl—how do you like her?"

I must say I like her looks. She is pretty as a picture, and if it is serious as Lou intimates, I am glad because he is entitled to some happiness.

The best news I've had in years comes from Lionel Barrymore's doctors who now hold out hope that he will be able to walk without crutches.

Lionel, who has been confined to a wheel chair since 1937 from a fall he had which dislocated his hip, has lost 33 pounds, and is so improved he'll be seen out of his wheel chair walking on crutches in his next picture, "Down To the Sea In Ships."

I'm not vouching this is true—but I heard the reason why Linda Christian's sister called off her marriage soon after Linda and Ty Power postponed their wedding. Seems Linda put her foot down and said that she is the eldest in the family, and her sister, Ariadna Amesquita, should wait until after she is married.

It's an old Mexican custom. In foreign countries they have strong feelings about the eldest in the family marrying first.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Joan Chandler, who is private life is Mrs. David McKay, is expecting a baby. Joan, who had her first lead in "Rope," has gone east to be with her husband and await the happy event.

Very wise of Robert Mitchum to take his wife and children to a secluded place until his trial comes up in November. He'll get a rest, which he needs, and spend a little time with his family.

Venita Varden's mother, who kept house for Jack Oakie long after he and Venita separated, has gone to New York to occupy her daughter's apartment. While there she will testify in the suit the estate has against a press agent for $18,000 he borrowed from Venita.

The Eddie Cantors are back from Europe. Ida has just sold Collier's "My Life With Eddie," which covers their 30 years of married life. For that little stint she was paid $30,000—and Eddie says she earned it.

Rex Harrison is due in New York next week to complete plans for his starring role in "Ann Of the Thousand Nights." I suppose Lilli Palmer returns with him.

That's all today.

Treiber Arrested For Booking Bets

Arrested on the complaint of a carnival man, Melvin Treiber, Washington Street, posted $200 bond for a hearing in Police Court this morning on a charge of operating a bookie establishment.

The witness, who also posted $200 was booked as Steve Libitz, Jersey City, N. J. He was quoted by police as saying he placed a bet on a horse with Treiber and when he later returned to collect the local man refused to "pay off."

Ridgeley Man's Name Replaced On List

KEYSER, W. Va.—Abiding by a ruling from Attorney General Ira J. Partlowe, a Mineral County resident's name, which had been stricken from the registration lists several weeks ago, was again placed on the registration list by members of the Mineral County Court.

The name of Jesse H. Simmons, insurance agent of Ridgeley and a prominent Mineral County Democrat, was placed on the registration lists this week when he appeared in County Court with a lengthy opinion from the Attorney General. The name was stricken from the lists several weeks ago when the Court ruled that Simmons was no longer a resident of Mineral County but lived in Maryland.

Simmons, whose address is listed holds his legal residence in Mineral County. The Attorney General handed down an opinion on the case following a request by Simmons.

Simmons, whose adress is listed in the Cumberland telephone directory as "McMullen Boulevard," said last night when contacted by the News that he has business connections in both states. He did not clarify the matter further.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19 (INS)—Robert Montgomery has just pulled off the movie coup of the year in a deal which gives him the rights to all the Theater Guild's valuable stage plays.

Lionel Barrymore

Bob, who is in New York, made the deal with Lawrence Langner and Theresa Halburn, executives of the Guild.

The contract gives Montgomery the rights to all Theater Guild plays — those which have been filmed and those which haven't, as well as to all future Guild plays. He'll make them himself for Neptune Productions, his own company, at the Universal - International Studio.

Susan Hayward, who has become one of our most-sought-after actresses in the last few years, will probably make her next picture on the 20th Century-Fox lot.

Otto Preminger, who is producing "The Cloak Of Innocence," an original by Ketti Fringes, has sent Susan the script to read. I suppose Walter Wanger will loan her, because to be directed by Otto Preminger is always helpful to any star, no matter how important.

Jeanne Crain is expecting a baby—yes, she admits it now after denying it to this writer—so, she is out and Anne Baxter is in "You're My Everything" with Dan Dailey Jr. Actually, Anne has wanted to do this story ever since she read it in a national magazine authored by Georgie Jessel.

George wrote a very funny piece about two actors who have a baby and the offspring becomes a bigger star than they have ever been and practically wrecks the careers of Ma and Pa.

Chatter in Hollywood:

Passing my table at a Beverly Hills restaurant was Lou Holtz with a pretty girl named Carmen Orfeld on his arm. He stopped to say "This is my girl—how do you like her?"

I must say I like her looks. She is pretty as a picture, and if it is serious as Lou intimates, I am glad because he is entitled to some happiness.

The best news I've had in years comes from Lionel Barrymore's doctors who now hold out hope that he will be able to walk without crutches.

Lionel, who has been confined to a wheel chair since 1937 from a fall he had which dislocated his hip, has lost 33 pounds, and is so improved he'll be seen out of his wheel chair walking on crutches in his next picture, "Down To the Sea In Ships."

I'm not vouching this is true—but I heard the reason why Linda Christian's sister called off her marriage soon after Linda and Ty Power postponed their wedding. Seems Linda put her foot down and said that she is the eldest in the family, and her sister, Ariadna Amesquita, should wait until after she is married.

It's an old Mexican custom. In foreign countries they have strong feelings about the eldest in the family marrying first.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Joan Chandler, who is private life is Mrs. David McKay, is expecting a baby. Joan, who had her first lead in "Rope," has gone east to be with her husband and await the happy event.

Very wise of Robert Mitchum to take his wife and children to a secluded place until his trial comes up in November. He'll get a rest, which he needs, and spend a little time with his family.

Venita Varden's mother, who kept house for Jack Oakie long after he and Venita separated, has gone to New York to occupy her daughter's apartment. While there she will testify in the suit the estate has against a press agent for $18,000 he borrowed from Venita.

The Eddie Cantors are back from Europe. Ida has just sold Collier's "My Life With Eddie," which covers their 30 years of married life. For that little stint she was paid $30,000—and Eddie says she earned it.

Rex Harrison is due in New York next week to complete plans for his starring role in "Ann Of the Thousand Nights." I suppose Lili Palmer returns with him.

That's all today.

Treiber Arrested For Booking Bets

Arrested on the complaint of a carnival man, Melvin Treiber, Washington Street, posted $200 bond for a hearing in Police Court this morning on a charge of operating a bookie establishment.

The witness, who also posted $200 was booked as Steve Libitz, Jersey City, N. J. He was quoted by police as saying he placed a bet on a horse with Treiber and when he later returned to collect the local man refused to "pay off."

Ridgeley Man's Name Replaced On List

KEYSER, W. Va.—Abiding by a ruling from Attorney General Ira J. Partlowe, a Mineral County resident's name, which had been stricken from the registration lists several weeks ago, was again placed on the registration list by members of the Mineral County Court.

The name of Jesse H. Simmons, insurance agent of Ridgeley and a prominent Mineral County Democrat, was placed on the registration lists this week when he appeared in County Court with a lengthy opinion from the Attorney General. The name was stricken from the lists several weeks ago when the Court ruled that Simmons was no longer a resident of Mineral County but lived in Maryland.

Simmons, whose address is listed holds his legal residence in Mineral County. The Attorney General handed down an opinion on the case following a request by Simmons.

Simmons, whose adress is listed in the Cumberland telephone directory as "McMullen Boulevard," said last night when contacted by the News that he has business connections in both states. He did not clarify the matter further.

CHICAGO CARDINALS BEAT STEELERS, 35-14

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (INS)—The Champion Chicago Cardinals continued their unbeaten run of National Football League pre-season victories today by flattening the Pittsburgh Steelers 35 to 14 before 24,000 at Wrigley Field.

Rookie Scatback Jerry Davis scored twice for the Cards, once on a 75-yard punt return, and Charlie Trippi, Frank Liebel and Vic Schwall also hit touchdown dirt for the Cards, who were never behind.

Steeler End Val Jansante caught passes for both Pittsburgh scores, one coming from Joe Gasparella and the other from Gonzales Morales.

The score by periods:

CHICAGO CARDINALS	14	14	0	7—35
PITTSBURGH STEELERS	0	7	7	0—14

St. Mary's Gaels Win Over Loyola, 32 To 7

PASADENA, Calif., Sept. 19 (INS)—St. Mary's rambunctious Gaels galloped to an impressive 32 to 7 football victory over the Loyola (Los Angeles) Golden Boys in the Rose Bowl today.

The collegiate debut of Joe Verducci was a resounding success as the Gaels scored in every period except the third.

St. Mary's punched across three more touchdowns in the final quarter.

AMVETS AND LACY'S MEET IN 3RD GAME AT TAYLOR FIELD

Manager Frank Riehl's Cumberland Amvets will attempt to win the championship of the City Softball League today when they face Lacy's Delicatets in the third game of their series at Taylor Field at 5:45 o'clock.

The playing site has been changed to South End because of the rodeo at Community Park this week.

The Amvets captured the first two games, a pair of thrillers, by scores of 2-1 and 4-3, and another victory today will wind-up the series.

Allan Sheetz and Ed Decker are slated to hook up for the 8th time this season. Decker holds a 4-3 edge in games won over his pitching rival.

County League Teams Play At Wellersburg

Wellersburg will play host to the Potomac Valley Cubs in the second game of the County Softball League championship series today at 6 p. m.

The Pennsylvanians took the opener of the best-of-five games series on Friday at Pinto by the score of 9-3.

On Wednesday the third game of the series will be staged at Pinto.

CHICAGO CARDINALS BEAT STEELERS, 35-14

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (INS)—The Champion Chicago Cardinals continued their unbeaten run of National Football League pre-season victories today by flattening the Pittsburgh Steelers 35 to 14 before 24,000 at Wrigley Field.

Rookie Scatback Jerry Davis scored twice for the Cards, once on a 75-yard punt return, and Charlie Trippi, Frank Liebel and Vic Schwall also hit touchdown dirt for the Cards, who were never behind.

Steeler End Val Jansante caught passes for both Pittsburgh scores, one coming from Joe Gasparella and the other from Gonzales Morales.

The score by periods:

CHICAGO CARDINALS	14	14	0	7—35
PITTSBURGH STEELERS	0	7	7	0—14

St. Mary's Gaels Win Over Loyola, 32 To 7

PASADENA, Calif., Sept. 19 (INS)—St. Mary's rambunctious Gaels galloped to an impressive 32 to 7 football victory over the Loyola (Los Angeles) Golden Boys in the Rose Bowl today.

The collegiate debut of Joe Verducci was a resounding success as the Gaels scored in every period except the third.

A crowd of 22,101 watched the Mighty Moragans—who were one-touchdown favorites at kickoff—handle the Loyola youngsters at will after Al Beasley, a hefty right guard, snagged a blocked kick and rambled 33 yards for the ice-breaking touchdown.

Dick Jarvis rammed over center from three yards out for the next St. Mary's tally in the second period, to give the Gaels a 13 to 0 halftime lead.

St. Mary's punched across three more touchdowns in the final quarter.

AMVETS AND LACY'S MEET IN 3RD GAME AT TAYLOR FIELD

Manager Frank Riehl's Cumberland Amvets will attempt to win the championship of the City Softball League today when they face Lacy's Delicatets in the third game of their series at Taylor Field at 5:45 o'clock.

The playing site has been changed to South End because of the rodeo at Community Park this week.

The Amvets captured the first two games, a pair of thrillers, by scores of 2-1 and 4-3, and another victory today will wind-up the series.

Allan Sheetz and Ed Decker are slated to hook up for the 8th time this season. Decker holds a 4-3 edge in games won over his pitching rival.

County League Teams Play At Wellersburg

Wellersburg will play host to the Potomac Valley Cubs in the second game of the County Softball League championship series today at 6 p. m.

The Pennsylvanians took the opener of the best-of-five games series on Friday at Pinto by the score of 9-3.

On Wednesday the third game of the series will be staged at Pinto.

Queen City And Moorefield Cop Playoff Games

Brewers Reach Finals, Defeat Amvets, 7 To 1

Woodson Bats In Five Runs In 'Rubber' Game

A six-hit pitching performance by "Squire" Holsinger coupled with some timely hitting on the part of Junior Woodson, who batted in five runs, enabled the Queen City Brewers to defeat the Cumberland Amvets in the fifth and deciding game of their Bi-State Baseball League playoff series yesterday at Stitcher Field. The score was 7-1.

The victory moved Manager Charley Doyle's team into a best-of-seven games championship series which will get under way this weekend.

Yesterday's game was necessitated when the Amvets won a 1-0 14-inning thriller from the Brewers in Saturday's game at Stitcher Field. Westvaco crashed the finals by defeating Frostburg VFW Saturday at Westernport by the score of 16-8. The Papermakers won three out of four games from the Mountain City nine.

Beat Drew Second Time

In yesterday's battle at North End, the Brewers defeated Danny Drew, the Amvets' ace for the second time during the series, solving the righthander's slants for nine safeties, including five doubles and a triple. The Amvets' lone tally was scored in the 5th on Riehl's walk, the only pass issued by Holsinger, Joe Geatz's single, Zembower's fielder's choice and an error by Dively.

Woodson, the batting star, started Queen City on the road to victory in the first inning when he doubled to the right field bank to score Lou Baker after the latter had singled and advanced to second on Tom Briggle's sacrifice.

Woodson Cleans Bases

The big blow of the game, however, was Woodson's three-run triple in the third. Holsinger walked but was forced at second by Baker. Briggle doubled to right and Ronnie Cage drew a pass to fill the bases. Then Woodson belted a triple to the centerfield bank to clean the bases. He scored the 4th run of the inning when "Buck" Cowher flied to deep center.

Doubles by Briggle and Cage, Woodson's outfield fly and Cowher's line single to left netted Queen City's two runs in the eighth frame.

Briggle, Cage and Woodson accounted for six of the winners' nine hits. Briggle and Cage connected for two doubles each while Woodson hammered a triple and two-bagger. Drew and Summers shared four of the losers' six hits.

In eliminating last year's champions from the playoffs, Holsinger yielded five singles and one double, fanned four and gave up one free ticket. Drew struck out eight and issued two bases on balls. Box:

Levin's Remains Unbeaten In City Bowling Circuit

Score 6th Win In Row; Felton Has Score 564

Four teams dropped out of the undefeated class in the City Bowling League yesterday but Levin's maple spillers continued on their merry way by winning three straight from Yellow Top Cab at the Roxy to set the pace in the American League with a 6-0 record.

Eddie Conn's 471 and 187 paced the league leaders while Bob McFadden toppled 422 and 155 to lead the cabbies.

Martz's defeated Old Export 3 to 0 with O'Neill showing the way with scores of 521 and 198. Reed had high game of 179 for the losers.

C. Warnick's 477 and 173 led Silver Lanes to a 3-0 triumph over Tom's at Cresaptown. Paul Tracey's 478 and 199 was high for Tom's.

Club Recreation was the only team in the National League to sweep all three games. They conquered Harbaugh's at the Roxy lanes. High scorers were Tom Weese of the Club (481 and 207) and John Harbaugh of the losers 425-176).

Roxy topped the Eagles on the Club alleys, 2 to 1. "Nebs" George was high with 458 and 169 while F. Twigg of the Eagles hit 421 and 191.

Kelso's edged the Savoy at Kelso's alleys. C. Felton of Savoy collected 211 and 564 for the day's high scores while W. Cox of Kelso's spilled 518 and 198.

Capital grabbed two out of three at the Diamond with Lyons' 456 and 157 heading the victors. Campbell led Diamond with scores of 441 and 166.

The Liberty Lanes-B. & O. match in the American League was postponed.

Kelso's and the Club are now tied for the lead in the National League with 5 wins and one loss.

C. Eugene Howell, president, announced that sanction fees of $1.50 per team must be posted by next Sunday. Rosters of all teams must be submitted to league officials by October 3.

Forty Niners Win, Albert Stands Out

Completes 15 Passes As Dons Lose, 36-14

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19 (INS) —Frankie Albert led the San Francisco Forty-Niners to their fourth straight All-America Conference football victory today by a 36 to 14 score over the Los Angeles Dons.

The classy 49'er quarterback pitched three touchdown passes and scored another himself.

A crowd of 45,420 saw the game at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

San Francisco scored its first touchdown when Albert threw a 19 yard scoring pass to Alyn Beals.

His other touchdown pitches were a 17-yarder to John Strzykalski and a 14-yard toss to Bobby Sullivan.

He scored his own touchdown on a nine-yard bootleg run around the Dons' left end.

In all, Albert completed 15 of 22 passes for a total of 213 yards.

The two Don touchdowns—one in the second period—the other in the third—were made on passes by Dobbs. Score by quarters:

SAN FRANCISCO '49ERS 7 13 2 14—36
LOS ANGELES DONS ... 0 7 7 0—14

YANKS SPLIT EVEN

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19 (INS)—New York climbed to a point one game back of the league-leading Boston Red Sox today, but paradoxically the Yankees fell to third place in the standings when they split a doubleheader with the St. Louis Browns.

Cleveland, which took both ends of its twin bill with Philadelphia while Boston was losing twice at Detroit, moved into second place when the Yanks lost the opener to St. Louis, 8 to 6, before winning the nightcap 9 to 6.

In the nightcap at St. Louis, Joltin' Joe DiMaggio hit his 37th and 38th home runs of the season, giving him a total of 302 for his major league career. Each blow came with a man aboard, and they proved the impetus Vic Raschi needed to hang up his 19th victory of the season. Box:

Bosox Lead Cut To Half-Game After Losing Pair To Detroit

Tigers Defeat Boston By 4-3 And 8-6 Scores

DETROIT, Sept. 19 (INS)—The Boston Red Sox saw their American League melt to half a game today when they lost two games to Detroit, 4 to 3 in 12 innings and 8 to 6 when darkness fell in the eighth.

Detroit's heroes were Stubby Overmire, Dick Wakefield and Rookie Lou Kretlow. Overmire's first hit of the season was the 12th-inning single that broke up the opener and made him the winning pitcher. Wakefield smashed a two-run pinch homer in the first game, and his tenth home run of the season broke up the aftermath. Kretlow came on to stop the Red Sox in the second game and win his second victory since coming up to the Tigers.

Redskins Beaten By Chicago Bears

Exhibition Game Won By Field Goal, 17-14

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19 (AP) — A field goal by Fred Venturelli in the last minute of play gave the Chicago Bears a 17-14 victory over the Washington Redskins in a National Football League exhibition game here today.

The placement from the 16 yard climaxed a Chicago comeback against penalties which almost cost the game before 20,456 sun-baked fans in Municipal Stadium.

On the first play of the fourth period, with the score tied 7-7, Sammy Baugh and halfback Dick Poillon completed a 25 yard pass which moved the ball to the Chicago 8. The Bears were penalized three times, for unnecessary roughness, pass interference and offside, to put the ball on the goal from where Poillon pulled it over.

The second bad break to strike Allen Lawler, Chicago back, fell shortly later. Lawler, a track star from the University of Texas, took a reverse from J. R. Boone on a punt on the seven and raced all the way to the opposite three before he was caught from behind. But Chicago was holding on the punt and Washington took back the ball at midfield.

But Chicago bounced right back when tackle George Connor recovered a fumble two plays later on the Redskin 45. On the next play, full back Joe Osmanski broke thru center and went all the way to tally.

Quarterback Sid Luckman of the Bears then sparked a winning drive. Starting from the Chicago 22, Luckman completed four out of five passes to the Washington 10 and set the stage for Venturelli's boot.

Queen City And Moorefield Cop Playoff Games

Woodson Bats In Five Runs In 'Rubber' Game

A six-hit pitching performance by "Squire" Holsinger coupled with some timely hitting on the part of Junior Woodson, who batted in five runs, enabled the Queen City Brewers to defeat the Cumberland Amvets in the fifth and deciding game of their Bi-State Baseball League playoff series yesterday at Stitcher Field. The score was 7-1.

The victory moved Manager Charley Doyle's team into a best-of-seven games championship series which will get under way this weekend.

Yesterday's game was necessitated when the Amvets won a 1-0 14-inning thriller from the Brewers in Saturday's game at Stitcher Field. Westvaco crashed the finals by defeating Frostburg VFW Saturday at Westernport by the score of 16-8. The Papermakers won three out of four games from the Mountain City nine.

Beat Drew Second Time

In yesterday's battle at North End, the Brewers defeated Danny Drew, the Amvets' ace for the second time during the series, solving the righthander's slants for nine safeties, including five doubles and a triple. The Amvets' lone tally was scored in the 5th on Riehl's walk, the only pass issued by Holsinger, Joe Geatz's single, Zembower's fielder's choice and an error by Dively.

Woodson, the batting star, started Queen City on the road to victory in the first inning when he doubled to the right field bank to score Lou Baker after the latter had singled and advanced to second on Tom Briggle's sacrifice.

Woodson Cleans Bases

The big blow of the game, however, was Woodson's three-run triple in the third. Holsinger walked but was forced at second by Baker. Briggle doubled to right and Ronnie Cage drew a pass to fill the bases. Then Woodson belted a triple to the centerfield bank to clean the bases. He scored the 4th run of the inning when "Buck" Cowher flied to deep center.

Doubles by Briggle and Cage, Woodson's outfield fly and Cowher's line single to left netted Queen City's two runs in the eighth frame.

Briggle, Cage and Woodson accounted for six of the winners' nine hits. Briggle and Cage connected for two doubles each while Woodson hammered a triple and two-bagger. Drew and Summers shared four of the losers' six hits.

In eliminating last year's champions from the playoffs, Holsinger yielded five singles and one double, fanned four and gave up one free ticket. Drew struck out eight and issued two bases on balls. Box:

YANKS SPLIT EVEN

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19 (INS)—New York climbed to a point one game back of the league-leading Boston Red Sox today, but paradoxically the Yankees fell to third place in the standings when they split a doubleheader with the St. Louis Browns.

Cleveland, which took both ends of its twin bill with Philadelphia while Boston was losing twice at Detroit, moved into second place when the Yanks lost the opener to St. Louis, 8 to 6, before winning the nightcap 9 to 6.

In the nightcap at St. Louis, Joltin' Joe DiMaggio hit his 37th and 38th home runs of the season, giving him a total of 302 for his major league career. Each blow came with a man aboard, and they proved the impetus Vic Raschi needed to hang up his 19th victory of the season. Box:

Bosox Lead Cut To Half-Game After Losing Pair To Detroit

Tigers Defeat Boston By 4-3 And 8-6 Scores

DETROIT, Sept. 19 (INS)—The Boston Red Sox saw their American League melt to half a game today when they lost two games to Detroit, 4 to 3 in 12 innings and 8 to 6 when darkness fell in the eighth.

Detroit's heroes were Stubby Overmire, Dick Wakefield and Rookie Lou Kretlow. Overmire's first hit of the season was the 12th-inning single that broke up the opener and made him the winning pitcher. Wakefield smashed a two-run pinch homer in the first game, and his tenth home run of the season broke up the aftermath. Kretlow came on to stop the Red Sox in the second game and win his second victory since coming up to the Tigers.

Red Sox second baseman Bobby Doerr, holder of a new American League fielding record at second base, made his first error in 74 games. He had compiled 411 chances without a miscue. Box:

Redskins Beaten By Chicago Bears

Exhibition Game Won By Field Goal, 17-14

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19 (AP) — A field goal by Fred Venturelli in the last minute of play gave the Chicago Bears a 17-14 victory over the Washington Redskins in a National Football League exhibition game here today.

The placement from the 16 yard climaxed a Chicago comeback against penalties which almost cost the game before 20,456 sun-baked fans in Municipal Stadium.

On the first play of the fourth period, with the score tied 7-7, Sammy Baugh and halfback Dick Poillon completed a 25 yard pass which moved the ball to the Chicago 8. The Bears were penalized three times, for unnecessary roughness, pass interference and offside, to put the ball on the goal from where Poillon pulled it over.

The second bad break to strike Allen Lawler, Chicago back, fell shortly later. Lawler, a track star from the University of Texas, took a reverse from J. R. Boone on a punt on the seven and raced all the way to the opposite three before he was caught from behind. But Chicago was holding on the punt and Washington took back the ball at midfield.

But Chicago bounced right back when tackle George Connor recovered a fumble two plays later on the Redskin 45. On the next play, full back Joe Osmanski broke thru center and went all the way to tally.

Quarterback Sid Luckman of the Bears then sparked a winning drive. Starting from the Chicago 22, Luckman completed four out of five passes to the Washington 10 and set the stage for Venturelli's boot.

Role Of American Nurse In International Health

Good health knows no boundaries. Your health is better today because of medical discoveries and treatments perfected in other lands. Your health tomorrow will depend in part on the continued exchange of ideas and services among all the free peoples of the earth.

It is with this idea in mind that the American Nurses' Association has endorsed United States membership in the World Health Organization. It is responsible also for the ANA's expansion of its program for the exchange of students and teachers of nursing with other countries. In the interest of humanity the ANA has made plans for the coming year to participate actively in American Overseas Aid.

Approve Benelux

BRUSSELS — (AP) — Benelux, the economic union between Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg, is progressing according to a check made here by the Belgian sample poll, Organization, Insoc. In 1947, according to Insoc., about 56 per cent of Belgians said they had never heard of Benelux; in 1948 only 25 per cent admitted they knew nothing about it.

At present 22 per cent say they have a clear idea of what Benelux is, while 52 per cent admit they have only a vague idea. Thirty one per cent fully approve the idea of the economic union, while though approving, 23 per cent are less enthusiastic and four per cent definitely disapprove Benelux. Forty-one per cent have no opinion to express.

SALLY'S SALLIES

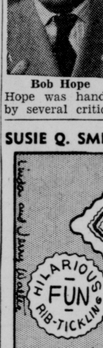

"Look at them! After my giving him the best summer of my life!"

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The New Bob Hope

"Thi summer," declared the announcer on Bob Hope's first show of the new season, "while other comedians were enjoying their vacations, Bob Hope was busy on the problem of finding something different for his radio show." This was used more or less as an introduction to a comedy sequence but it wasn't entirely a gag.

Bob Hope

Last season Hope was handled pretty roughly by several critics and, despite the fact that he led the Hooper parade for a while, even the public voiced complaints, some of them pretty loud. Relations with his sponsor were not altogether happy, either. Worried by all these evidences of discontent, Hope fired most of his writers this summer, hired a lot of new ones, reorganized the show from top to bottom, and has even dispensed with poor Mirium and her Irium. Vera Vague isn't around any longer and neither is Jerry Colonna.

•—•—•

The old Bob Hope show used to gallop frenziedly through half an hour, filling the air with unrelated jokes; the new one is slower less galvanic and much more coherent. Most of the distressing improprieties of last year have been eliminated, and, in spite of these unquestioned improvements, the open shot didn't strike me as very funny.

Hope, or his new writers, have shopped around liberally at other radio programs. Opening the show he commented on the day's news in a manner somewhat reminiscent of Fred Allen and Kenny Delmar. There were gags about the heat, the Presidential campaign, the Berlin situation, the new school season and, of all things, a gas shortage. (Must be a local situation in Hollywood. I haven't noticed any such thing around here.)

Then Hope interviewed four people concerning new ideas in radio and this sequence, I'm afraid, sounded quite a little like Allen's Alley. He spoke among others to a girl who sounded like Miss Duffy in "Duffy's Tavern" and later to a German-accent stooge who sounded a little too much like Henry Morgan doing the same thing. The man was introduced as the Friendly Credit Psychiatrist, a switcheroo on Fred Allen's gag last year about the psychiatrist who stays open all night. Still later Mr. Hope was pestered by an amorous girl just as Robert Q. Lewis is pestered and in almost the same tone of voice. As I say there has been some borrowing done, though I must say he's borrowed from some excellent sources.

Hope himself sounds quieter and, surprisingly, plays the part of stooge much of the time, letting the hired hands get a word in edgewise. Among these are a couple of new singing discoveries (singing discovery season is here again, trala trala). One of these is a girl named Doris Day who apparently looms large in Mr. Hope's plans. She is a pleasant, wholesome girl of no extraordinary comic gifts who will probably remind you of somebody's kid sister. According to Mr. Hope, she caused some stir in a movie called "Romance on the High Seas," which I missed. She sings, as is the fashion now, as if she hurt all over and does it as well as the next kid sister. At the end of the show, she and Hope nuzzled one another affectionately in a sort of romantic sequence which suggests Mr. Hope may be laying aside his wolf whistle for the time being. Becoming a juvenile again, I guess.

The other singing discovery is a nineteen - year - old Cleveland boy named Bill Farrell who sounds like a singing Clark Gable, implausible as that sounds.

On the whole I think the new Hope show is an improvement over the old one or will be when they get things shaken down a bit. The structure, at least, is promising. Nevertheless there's no escaping the fact that Hope is a born mugger whose appeal is more irresistible to those who can see him than to those who can't. I'm looking forward to the day they get that coaxial cable to the coast.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Just Between Us

Being Jilted Not Fatal; Many Go Through It And Survive It

By NANCY MOTTRAM

You're more than slightly concerned over the fact that there's a cooling in the air between you and the boy of your life. It isn't mutual disinterest, or a gradual drifting apart. You know why he's calling you less, and why your dates are dwindling. It's as plain as anything can be. There's another girl in the background.

Nancy Mottram

It's beyond mere suspicion. Everything points to the fact that he's switching his daily thoughts in another direction, and though you don't like it, you don't know what to do about it. When you do see him, although there's little said, both of you are cautious and act like strangers. But he still hasn't come right out and told you that there is someone else in his life.

•—•—•

He's wavering, and unless you're careful, you may make a few mistakes that will send him over to her side faster than you can say the words. One way is via your wagging tongue. You've heard that it doesn't impress a lad favorably when you let go with a few catty remarks. Well, it's true. Sounding off with sharp criticism about this certain gal in particular can wind you up on the outside looking in. It won't do the job of turning him against her, and it may even make him take up her battle in her absence.

Trying to pin him down with a pair of steely eyes and a couple of straight-to-the-point questions is just another kind of third degree, and in self-defense he may leave for good. When you've reached the stage where you've just got to know the score, you can start the chatter off with a simple request to let you in on what's wrong. If he's got something on his mind, that will usually bring it out, and you can talk it over intelligently—but no sudden tears, please. It may mean the end of everything, but keep your pride up and the flags flying. A crying spell will make him uncomfortable, but it won't bring him back if he doesn't want to come. Don't let him have the satisfaction of knowing how much you care.

If the other lass does win, don't stage a scene that will be remembered and talked about for weeks. It will take all your will power and nerve to be casual and unconcerned where the public is concerned, but do it. You won't be sorry later, when the smoke and fire have cleared away.

No matter how blue the days, keep in mind the thought that it's happened to many, many other girls, too. They seem to have weathered the storm, and are still in circulation. Brooding over a dead love won't solve your problems. It's been proved that the quickest cure for those particular doldums is—you've guessed it—someone new.

Miss Mottram wants to help with your problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Role Of American Nurse In International Health

Good health knows no boundaries. Your health is better today because of medical discoveries and treatments perfected in other lands. Your health tomorrow will depend in part on the continued exchange of ideas and services among all the free peoples of the earth.

It is with this idea in mind that the American Nurses' Association has endorsed United States membership in the World Health Organization. It is responsible also for the ANA's expansion of its program for the exchange of students and teachers of nursing with other countries. In the interest of humanity the ANA has made plans for the coming year to participate actively in American Overseas Aid.

Approve Benelux

BRUSSELS — (AP) — Benelux, the economic union between Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg, is progressing according to a check made here by the Belgian sample poll, Organization, Insoc. In 1947, according to Insoc, about 56 per cent of Belgians said they had never heard of Benelux; in 1948 only 25 per cent admitted they knew nothing about it.

At present 22 per cent say they have a clear idea of what Benelux is, while 52 per cent admit they have only a vague idea. Thirty one per cent fully approve the idea of the economic union, while though approving, 22 per cent are less enthusiastic and four per cent definitely disapprove Benelux. Forty-one per cent have no opinion to express.

SALLY'S SALLIES

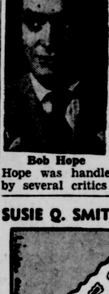

"Look at them! After my giving him the best summer of my life!"

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The New Bob Hope

"Thi summer," declared the announcer on Bob Hope's first show of the new season, "while other comedians were enjoying their vacations, Bob Hope was busy on the problem of finding something different for his radio show." This was used more or less as an introduction to a comedy sequence but it wasn't entirely a gag.

Bob Hope

Last season Hope was handled pretty roughly by several critics and, despite the fact that he led the Hooper parade for a while, even the public voiced complaints, some of them pretty loud. Relations with his sponsor were not altogether happy, either. Worried by all these evidences of discontent, Hope fired most of his writers this summer, hired a lot of new ones, reorganized the show from top to bottom, and has even dispensed with poor Mirium and her Irium. Vera Vague isn't around any longer and neither is Jerry Colonna.

●—●—●

The old Bob Hope show used to gallop frenziedly through half an hour, filling the air with unrelated jokes; the new one is slower less galvanic and much more coherent. Most of the distressing impropriety of last year have been eliminated, and, in spite of these unquestioned improvements, the open shot didn't strike me as very funny.

Hope, or his new writers, have shopped around liberally at other radio programs. Opening the show he commented on the day's news in a manner somewhat reminiscent of Fred Allen and Kenny Delmar. There were gags about the heat, the Presidential campaign, the Berlin situation, the new school season and, of all things, a gas shortage. (Must be a local situation in Hollywood. I haven't noticed any such thing around here.)

Then Hope interviewed four people concerning new ideas in radio and this sequence, I'm afraid, sounded quite a little like Allen's Alley. He spoke among others to a girl who sounded like Miss Duffy in "Duffy's Tavern" and later to a German-accent stooge who sounded a little too much like Henry Morgan doing the same thing. The man was introduced as the Friendly Credit Psychiatrist, a switcheroo on Fred Allen's gag last year about the psychiatrist who stays open all night. Still later Mr. Hope was pestered by an amorous girl just as Robert Q. Lewis is pestered and in almost the same tone of voice. As I say there has been some borrowing done, though I must say he's borrowed from some excellent sources.

Hope himself sounds quieter and, surprisingly, plays the part of stooge much of the time, letting the hired hands get a word in edgewise. Among these are a couple of new singing discoveries (singing discovery season is here again, trala trala). One of these is a girl named Doris Day who apparently looms large in Mr. Hope's plans. She is a pleasant, wholesome girl of no extraordinary comic gifts who will probably remind you of somebody's kid sister. According to Mr. Hope, she caused some stir in a movie called "Romance on the High Seas," which I missed. She sings, as is the fashion now, as if she hurt all over and does it as well as the next kid sister. At the end of the show, she and Hope nuzzled one another affectionately in a sort of romantic sequence which suggests Mr. Hope may be laying aside his wolf whistle for the time being. Becoming a juvenile again, I guess.

The other singing discovery is a nineteen - year - old Cleveland boy named Bill Farrell who sounds like a singing Clark Gable, implausible as that sounds.

On the whole I think the new Hope show is an improvement over the old one or will be when they get things shaken down a bit. The structure, at least, is promising. Nevertheless there's no escaping the fact that Hope is a born mugger whose appeal is more irresistible to those who can see him than to those who can't. I'm looking forward to the day they get that coaxial cable to the coast.

Boys Waiting For Mid-Night Show

Two small boys, who had a visit from the sandman while viewing the show at a local theater, were rescued by a local couple after they were locked inside the theater several days ago.

The good samaritans said they were walking past the theater near midnight and were surprised to see, glued against the glass of the French doors, the faces of the two bewildered tots.

A phone call to the manager soon resulted in freedom and an escorted tour to their homes. Theater attaches were unable to explain how the lads escaped the careful check made after the final show to guard against such incidents.

Suit To Enforce Contract Filed

Della E. Smith and her husband, Ezra E. Smith, have filed a bill of complaint in Circuit Court against Rebecca Flanagan and others for specific performance of an agreement.

The bill states the plaintiff and defendant entered into an agreement on July 28, 1947, to establish a property line between their adjoining farms near Rawlings.

The bill further alleges a survey was made by Carl A. Low on June 17 and 18, 1947, and that a further term of the agreement was that the parties to the suit would construct a dividing fence along that line within a year from the time of the agreement.

The agreement, the suit claims, specifies that if one party should refuse or for any other reason fail to help construct the fence, the other party could build the fence at a cost not exceeding $400 and hold a lien against the other party for $200.

William L. Wilson, Jr., attorney for the defendants, said the defendants disagree with the line claimed by the plaintiffs. The line established by the Smiths, he said, runs through the defendants' farmhouse.

F. Brooke Whiting represents the plaintiffs.

"Romeo And Juliet" Will Be Presented

Charles L. Wagner's production of Gounod's immortal opera, "Romeo and Juliet," based on Shakespeare's play, will be presented in Fort Hill High School auditorium on Wednesday, November 17, according to Mrs. A. N. Golladay, who is sponsoring the Cumberland performance.

The big company of Metropolitan singers and complete orchestra will come here from Philadelphia and will go from here to Richmond, Va. Performances are also booked in Baltimore and Pittsburgh, but Cumberland is the smallest city in which the elaborate Wagner production will be presented.

A large orchestra and a selected mixed chorus will recreate the lyrically beautiful Gounod score under the baton of Walter Ducloux, gifted young Swiss-American conductor. Desire Defrere will be in charge of stage direction for his ninth year with Mr. Wagner.

Mrs. Golladay said that the entire 1700 seat capacity of Fort Hill will be reserved.

Hice Asks $2,000 In Damage Suit

Warren Lee Hice has filed suit against Anthony A. Dartoozos, Washington, for $2,000 for his own use and the use of the State Automobile Insurance Company as the result of an accident July 9, 1947 near Hagerstown.

The suit states that Dartoozos was driving east on Route 40 13½ miles west of Hagerstown when his car struck a car owned by the plaintiff and driven by Charles A. Hice, which was traveling in the same direction.

The plaintiff states that his wife, Irma Hice, suffered "severe injuries to her knee and received multiple contusions and lacerations," as a result of the crash. The suit also claims Mrs. Hice suffered "excruciating pain" and that her "nervous system has been permanently shocked and impaired."

The plaintiff said he had to pay medical bills for his wife's treatment, and he has lost her services during the time she was hospitalized, and he bore the expense of repairs to his car.

The suit, which charges "carelessness, recklessness and negligence" by Dartoozos, also says the car was insured by the insurance company which Hice says paid him $376.77.

Local Musical Groups Resume Activities

A concert band, sponsored by Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, will be heard in a debut program during the season.

The announcement was made at Republican State Headquarters, 1218 North Charles Street, Baltimore, by Brig. Gen. D. John Markey, chairman of the Republican Veterans Committee for Maryland.

Warner went on active duty in April 1942 with the rank of Lieutenant and left the service on December 6, 1945 with the rank of Commander. He spent a year with the Chief of Naval Operations in Washington; then attended the Naval War College at Newport, Rhode Island, from which he graduated in December 1943. He served as Surface Controller with the Hawaiian Sea Frontier from January to November of 1944. In November 1944, he went to Europe as Flag Secretary and personal aide to Vice Admiral Robert L. Ghormley, Commander of Naval Forces in Germany and served under his command until the end of the war.

Warner will direct the Republican Veteran activities in the Sixth Congressional District as an assistant of Brig. Gen. Markey.

August Rainfall 0.7 Inch below Normal

The total precipitation on the North Branch Potomac River basin above Cumberland during the month of August was 3.3 inches or about 0.7 inches below normal, according to the U. S. geological survey.

The average daily temperature was 69 degrees or practically normal.

The mean daily flow of the river was 311 cubic feet a second, 86 per cent of normal flow. The daily flow varied from 116 cubic feet a second on August 29 to 673 cubic feet per second on August 6. The flow at the end of the month was 179 cubic feet per second.

The survey predicts an average runoff of the North Branch of 150 cubic feet per second or 40 per cent of normal provided there are normal rainfall conditions. Under adverse conditions of little or no rainfall, the flow is expected to be 20 per cent of normal or about 70 cubic feet per second.

Tony Zale Rated 2-3 Favorite In Bout With Cerdan

Four Boxing Champs To Fight This Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Boxing booms like a wartime plane plant this week with four champions and several contenders slated to bang away.

The king of them all, heavyweight champ Joe Louis, starts off the fistic festivities with a six-round exhibition against ponderous Pat Comiskey of Paterson, N. J., at Washington, D. C. tomorrow night.

Then on Tuesday, the pace picks up with middleweight titleholder Tony Zale risking his crown against Marcel Cerdan in a 15-rounder in Jersey City's Roosevelt Stadium.

Fight In London

Across the Atlantic the same day, Bruce Woodcock, the British and European heavyweight boss, will test his fragile jaw against Lee Oma, the Detroit playboy. That fray is down for eight rounds in London's Harringay Arena. It's Woodcock's first outing since Pennsylvania's Joe Baksi splintered his jaw some 17 months ago.

On Thursday, the 20th Century Sporting Club moves over to Yankee Stadium for 15-round lightweight title scrap matching Champion Ike Williams of Trenton, N. J., and young Jesse Flores of Stockton, Calif. and a ten-round non-title bout between welterweight ruler Ray (Sugar) Robinson and Kid Gavilan, the clouting Cuban.

It's unlikely to happen, but should Comiskey flatten Louis, the non-retiring heavyweight champion would be relieved of his crown. There's no such thing as a non-title fight for a heavyweight champ. Louis jeopardizes his championship every time he steps into a ring with his gloves on.

The Zale-Cerdan fracas is the standout of the week. Both battlers can punch and the fight should be decided quickly, probably within five rounds. Zale is a 2-3 choice now and may be as high as 1 to 3 by fight time (9 p. m., EST). A crowd of around 30,000 and a gate of $250,000 is hoped for by the fledgling Tournament of Champions, Inc. Even so the promoters will be lucky to break even with Zale guaranteed $120,000 and Cerdan $50,000.

Feature Youth, Speed

The 20th Century show features youth and speed. The hard-hitting, 25-year-old Williams will be facing a flashy boxer in 21-year old Flores, who moves his hands and feet like one of the old-timers.

Robinson, at 28, is the oldest of the four main-go performers on the card. But Robinson ranks with the all-time greats. Today he still is classed as the best fighter in the racket on a pound-for-pound basis. The 22-year old Gavilan is a dead game, colorful fighter who appears to be over-matched. If he can make it close he'll get a title shot with Robinson in December.

Suit To Enforce Contract Filed

Della E. Smith and her husband, Ezra E. Smith, have filed a bill of complaint in Circuit Court against Rebecca Flanagan and others for specific performance of an agreement.

The bill states the plaintiff and defendant entered into an agreement on July 28, 1947, to establish a property line between their adjoining farms near Rawlings.

The bill further alleges a survey was made by Carl A. Low on June 17 and 18, 1947, and that a further term of the agreement was that the parties to the suit would construct a dividing fence along that line within a year from the time of the agreement.

The agreement, the suit claims, specifies that if one party should refuse or for any other reason fail to help construct the fence, the other party could build the fence at a cost not exceeding $400 and hold a lien against the other party for $200.

William L. Wilson, Jr., attorney for the defendants, said the defendants disagree with the line claimed by the plaintiffs. The line established by the Smiths, he said, runs through the defendants' farmhouse.

F. Brooke Whiting represents the plaintiffs.

"Romeo And Juliet" Will Be Presented

Charles L. Wagner's production of Gounod's immortal opera, "Romeo and Juliet," based on Shakespeare's play, will be presented in Fort Hill High School auditorium on Wednesday, November 17, according to Mrs. A. N. Golladay, who is sponsoring the Cumberland performance.

The big company of Metropolitan singers and complete orchestra will come here from Philadelphia and will go from here to Richmond, Va. Performances are also booked in Baltimore and Pittsburgh, but Cumberland is the smallest city in which the elaborate Wagner production will be presented.

A large orchestra and a selected mixed chorus will recreate the lyrically beautiful Gounod score under the baton of Walter Ducloux, gifted young Swiss-American conductor. Desire Defrere will be in charge of stage direction for his ninth year with Mr. Wagner.

Mrs. Golladay said that the entire 1700 seat capacity of Fort Hill will be reserved.

Boys Waiting For Mid-Night Show

Two small boys, who had a visit from the sandman while viewing the show at a local theater, were rescued by a local couple after they were locked inside the theater several days ago.

A phone call to the manager soon resulted in freedom and an escorted tour to their homes. Theater attaches were unable to explain how the lads escaped the careful check made after the final show to guard against such incidents.

Hice Asks $2,000 In Damage Suit

Warren Lee Hice has filed suit against Anthony A. Dartoozos, Washington, for $2,000 for his own use and the use of the State Automobile Insurance Company as the result of an accident July 9, 1947 near Hagerstown.

The suit states that Dartoozos was driving east on Route 40 13½ miles west of Hagerstown when his car struck a car owned by the plaintiff and driven by Charles A. Hice, which was traveling in the same direction.

The plaintiff states that his wife, Irma Hice, suffered "severe injuries to her knee and received multiple contusions and lacerations," as a result of the crash. The suit also claims Mrs. Hice suffered "excruciating pain" and that her "nervous system has been permanently shocked and impaired."

The plaintiff said he had to pay medical bills for his wife's treatment, and he has lost her services during the time she was hospitalized, and he bore the expense of repairs to his car.

The suit, which charges "carelessness, recklessness and negligence" by Dartoozos, also says the car was insured by the insurance company which Hice says paid him $376.77.

Tony Zale Rated 2-3 Favorite In Bout With Cerdan

Four Boxing Champs To Fight This Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Boxing booms like a wartime plane plant this week with four champions and several contenders slated to bang away.

The king of them all, heavyweight champ Joe Louis, starts off the fistic festivities with a six-round exhibition against ponderous Pat Comiskey of Paterson, N. J., at Washington, D. C. tomorrow night.

Then on Tuesday, the pace picks up with middleweight titleholder Tony Zale risking his crown against Marcel Cerdan in a 15-rounder in Jersey City's Roosevelt Stadium.

Fight In London

Across the Atlantic the same day, Bruce Woodcock, the British and European heavyweight boss, will test his fragile jaw against Lee Oma, the Detroit playboy. That fray is down for eight rounds in London's Harringay Arena. It's Woodcock's first outing since Pennsylvania's Joe Baksi splintered his jaw some 17 months ago.

On Thursday, the 20th Century Sporting Club moves over to Yankee Stadium for 15-round lightweight title scrap matching Champion Ike Williams of Trenton, N. J., and young Jesse Flores of Stockton, Calif. and a ten-round non-title bout between welterweight ruler Ray (Sugar) Robinson and Kid Gavilan, the clouting Cuban.

It's unlikely to happen, but should Comiskey flatten Louis, the non-retiring heavyweight champion would be relieved of his crown. There's no such thing as a non-title fight for a heavyweight champ. Louis jeopardizes his championship every time he steps into a ring with his gloves on.

The Zale-Cerdan fracas is the standout of the week. Both battlers can punch and the fight should be decided quickly, probably within five rounds. Zale is a 2-3 choice now and may be as high as 1 to 3 by fight time (9 p. m., EST). A crowd of around 30,000 and a gate of $250,000 is hoped for by the fledgling Tournament of Champions, Inc. Even so the promoters will be lucky to break even with Zale guaranteed $120,000 and Cerdan $50,000.

Feature Youth, Speed

The 20th Century show features youth and speed. The hard-hitting, 25-year-old Williams will be facing a flashy boxer in 21-year old Flores, who moves his hands and feet like one of the old-timers.

Robinson, at 28, is the oldest of the four main-go performers on the card. But Robinson ranks with the all-time greats. Today he still is classed as the best fighter in the racket on a pound-for-pound basis. The 22-year old Gavilan is a dead game, colorful fighter who appears to be over-matched. If he can make it close he'll get a title shot with Robinson in December.

One Youth Surrenders

Trooper Harry S. Bosley who with Officer Walter P. Crabtree, arrested three of the youths explained that the quartet pilferd automobiles they found unlocked in the area.

Michael Leslie learned that the other three men were arrested yesterday morning and surrendered at City Police Headquarters at 12:15 p. m.

Arresting officers said the quartet who went on the "spree," following a dance in the city, and pilferd auto tools, blankets, accessories and numerous other articles found in the trunks of the parked automobiles.

The quartet was identified through a license tag number that was given State Police by a person who saw the men near one of the looted cars early yesterday morning.

Traces Through Car

Police said the car belonged to Leslie's brother, but explained they were able to trace the men after learning Leslie had used the car, of which he is part owner, Saturday night.

Part of the loot was found in the back of the car used by the quartet, according to police who said Leslie lead them to several other stolen items which had been dumped from the car near the Community Ball Park, Wineow Street.

Still missing, according to police is a set of mechanic's tools and a chest valued at $150.

The quartet was held in City Jail until late last night when they were transferred to the county jail. Police said they will probably be taken to the office of the State's Attorney for questioning today.

The Weather

Cloudiness and a baby .03 inch rainfall didn't keep yesterday from being fairly warm, but still held it down to a reasonable 83. The overnight low of 63 held a promise of real sultriness which was not kept. However, at 10:30 p. m. yesterday the thermometer read 69 degrees. Between that and the weatherman's cheerful fair and warmer prediction, Cumberland should have a nice cotton dress day.

Pennsylvania Couple Moved To County Jail

Will Be Quizzed By State's Attorney

A 20-year-old Pennsylvania steel worker and his prospective bride, arrested here Friday night after fleeing from an investigating officer were being held in Allegany County Jail last night for further questioning.

Identified by a marriage license found in their personal effects as Thomas Ritenour, 20, Star Junction, Pa., and Betty Louise Urzita, Jacob Creek, Pa., police said the couple fled from Trooper Harry S. Bosley as he attempted to question them on Winchester Road.

They were arrested several hours later on North Mechanic Street when the car, for which Maryland State and City Police were searching, was spotted by Officer Louis Downey.

Police immediately sent a teletype message to Pennsylvania State Police and said last night that they were informed the girl who gave her age as 18 is only 15 years of age.

The girl gave the older age in obtaining a marriage license at Allegany County Court House last Monday. Police said they have slept in the car which they parked on different streets in the city each night until they were arrested.

Trooper Bosley said that when he approached the couple in the parked car on Winchester Road the youth pointed what he believed was a gun out the window.

Both denied having a gun in the car when they were questioned later by Maryland State Police. They were held in Cumberland City Jail Friday night and transferred to the County Jail Saturday.

Authorities said the girl apparently left home after encountering domestic difficulties. She was not a run-away they said.

The couple will be questioned in the office of the State's Attorney today, authorities indicated, to determine what action will be taken.

Sgt. H. R. Shields and Trooper E. D. Harbert of the State Police barracks at Romney, who investigated, said Davis was traveling west on Route 50 at the time of the accident, which occurred on the first curve west of New Albin Inn.

Cartons of restaurant food supplies, including pies, potatoes and coffee, which Davis was bringing to Keyser from Washington, were strewn along the creek bed, authorities said.

Canary Survives Crash

After the accident, a canary was found still alive in its battered cage on the front seat of the wrecked machine.

Sgt. Shields said Davis apparently lost control of the station wagon, which hit a ditch on the right side of the highway and then swerved across the road, tore down a pasture gate and crashed into the creek bed.

Ferry Wells, who lives nearby, summoned an ambulance and State Police after his wife heard the crash and called to him to investigate.

Dr. J. F. Easton, Romney physician, said Davis suffered a fractured skull and that the man died instantly.

Police Continue Probe Of Miller's Murder Confession

Local Man Faces Forgery Charges

North Carolina authorities were preparing yesterday to prosecute Edward H. Miller, 38, this city, on five charges of forgery, as Maryland State Police continued to probe a statement by the prisoner that he murdered a man near Oldtown on August 28.

Police said that while there are many flaws in a confession signed by Miller admitting he murdered a man identified as William Barnes, alias Thomas Akel, the story will be checked thoroughly before it is discounted.

Miller, who is wanted here on a charge of forging a $1,700 check, was arrested in North Carolina last week on five similar charges involving checks of "much smaller" denomination.

Shortly after he was arrested he told North Carolina authorities that he killed Barnes with a hammer near the Oldtown toll bridge and explained Barnes was going by the name of Akel while in Cumberland where he stayed at a local hotel.

Police also were conducting a search for Akel in an effort to disprove Miller's story and explained that the prisoner is apparently attempting to escape the five North Carolina charges and return to Maryland for prosecution on the single charge.

Authorities admittedly scoured the Oldtown area in search for a body but said nothing was found to substantiate Miller's story.

Cpl. Harry Holsinger and Investigator William Baker, who were sent to North Carolina to question Miller, returned late yesterday but were unable to give any further details in the case.

Authorities said they believe the man identified as Akel parted company with Miller while they were in this city after Miller passed the worthless check in a transaction with a local garage where he obtained a new car.

Miller was identified as an ex-convict recently released from Federal prison where he served time on a white slavery charge.

Linotype Operator Still Has Order Issued By Adm. Ainsworth At Saipan

Rear Admiral Walden Lee Ainsworth, commandant of the Fifth Naval District, Norfolk, Va., narrowly missed being confronted with an Order of the Day he issued three years ago just before the invasion of Saipan and has, no doubt, forgotten.

A linotype operator for the Cumberland News, Angelo Samson, 514 Washington Street, was setting up a story about the commissioning ceremonies at the Naval and Marine Reserve Training Center Saturday and it seems the name, Adm. Ainsworth, was decidedly familiar.

Samson was a Pharmacist's Mate First Class on the heavy cruiser Witchita which was a member of Task Force 38.1 about to attack Saipan in June, 1945, under the command of the admiral.

A day before the attack, a message came out to all hands on the Order of the Day, "Hit them with all you've got including the empty beer bottles on your ship if you have any. We don't have any over here," signed by Adm. Ainsworth.

Samson still has a copy of the message and was going to show it to his former commander Saturday, but did not get to see him.

"Besides," he said, "the Admiral wouldn't know me anyway."

Adm. Ainsworth was his commander during the Saipan campaign and in the attack against the Caroline Islands.

Trooper Harry S. Bosley who with Officer Walter P. Crabtree, arrested three of the youths explained that the quartet pilferd automobiles they found unlocked in the area.

Michael Leslie learned that the other three men were arrested yesterday morning and surrendered at City Police Headquarters at 12:15 p. m.

Arresting officers said the quartet who went on the "spree," following a dance in the city, and pilferd auto tools, blankets, accessories and numerous other articles found in the trunks of the parked automobiles.

The quartet was identified through a license tag number that was given State Police by a person who saw the men near one of the looted cars early yesterday morning.

Traces Through Car

Police said the car belonged to Leslie's brother, but explained they were able to trace the men after learning Leslie had used the car, of which he is part owner, Saturday night.

Part of the loot was found in the back of the car used by the quartet, according to police who said Leslie lead them to several other stolen items which had been dumped from the car near the Community Ball Park, Wineow Street.

Still missing, according to police is a set of mechanic's tools and a chest valued at $150.

The quartet was held in City Jail until late last night when they were transferred to the county jail. Police said they will probably be taken to the office of the State's Attorney for questioning today.

The Weather

Cloudiness and a baby .03 inch rainfall didn't keep yesterday from being fairly warm, but still held it down to a reasonable 83. The overnight low of 63 held a promise of real sultriness which was not kept. However, at 10:30 p. m. yesterday the thermometer read 69 degrees. Between that and the weatherman's cheerful fair and warmer prediction, Cumberland should have a nice cotton dress day.

Pennsylvania Couple Moved To County Jail

Will Be Quizzed By State's Attorney

A 20-year-old Pennsylvania steel worker and his prospective bride, arrested here Friday night after fleeing from an investigating officer were being held in Allegany County Jail last night for further questioning.

Identified by a marriage license found in their personal effects as Thomas Ritenour, 20, Star Junction, Pa., and Betty Louise Urzita, Jacob Creek, Pa., police said the couple fled from Trooper Harry S. Bosley as he attempted to question them on Winchester Road.

They were arrested several hours later on North Mechanic Street when the car, for which Maryland State and City Police were searching, was spotted by Officer Louis Downey.

Police immediately sent a teletype message to Pennsylvania State Police and said last night that they were informed the girl who gave her age as 18 is only 15 years of age.

The girl gave the older age in obtaining a marriage license at Allegany County Court House last Monday. Police said they have slept in the car which they parked on different streets in the city each night until they were arrested.

Trooper Bosley said that when he approached the couple in the parked car on Winchester Road the youth pointed what he believed was a gun out the window.

Both denied having a gun in the car when they were questioned later by Maryland State Police. They were held in Cumberland City Jail Friday night and transferred to the County Jail Saturday.

Authorities said the girl apparently left home after encountering domestic difficulties. She was not a run-away they said.

The couple will be questioned in the office of the State's Attorney today, authorities indicated, to determine what action will be taken.

After the accident, a canary was found still alive in its battered cage on the front seat of the wrecked machine.

Local Man Faces Forgery Charges

North Carolina authorities were preparing yesterday to prosecute Edward H. Miller, 38, this city, on five charges of forgery, as Maryland State Police continued to probe a statement by the prisoner that he murdered a man near Oldtown on August 28.

Police said that while there are many flaws in a confession signed by Miller admitting he murdered a man identified as William Barnes, alias Thomas Akel, the story will be checked thoroughly before it is discounted.

Miller, who is wanted here on a charge of forging a $1,700 check, was arrested in North Carolina last week on five similar charges involving checks of "much smaller" denomination.

Shortly after he was arrested he told North Carolina authorities that he killed Barnes with a hammer near the Oldtown toll bridge and explained Barnes was going by the name of Akel while in Cumberland where he stayed at a local hotel.

Police also were conducting a search for Akel in an effort to disprove Miller's story and explained that the prisoner is apparently attempting to escape the five North Carolina charges and return to Maryland for prosecution on the single charge.

Authorities admittedly scoured the Oldtown area in search for a body but said nothing was found to substantiate Miller's story.

Cpl. Harry Holsinger and Investigator William Baker, who were sent to North Carolina to question Miller, returned late yesterday but were unable to give any further details in the case.

Authorities said they believe the man identified as Akel parted company with Miller while they were in this city after Miller passed the worthless check in a transaction with a local garage where he obtained a new car.

Miller was identified as an ex-convict recently released from Federal prison where he served time on a white slavery charge.

Linotype Operator Still Has Order Issued By Adm. Ainsworth At Saipan

Rear Admiral Walden Lee Ainsworth, commandant of the Fifth Naval District, Norfolk, Va., narrowly missed being confronted with an Order of the Day he issued three years ago just before the invasion of Saipan and has, no doubt, forgotten.

A linotype operator for the Cumberland News, Angelo Samson, 514 Washington Street, was setting up a story about the commissioning ceremonies at the Naval and Marine Reserve Training Center Saturday and it seems the name, Adm. Ainsworth, was decidedly familiar.

Samson was a Pharmacist's Mate First Class on the heavy cruiser Witchita which was a member of Task Force 38.1 about to attack Saipan in June, 1945, under the command of the admiral.

A day before the attack, a message came out to all hands on the Order of the Day, "Hit them with all you've got including the empty beer bottles on your ship if you have any. We don't have any over here," signed by Adm. Ainsworth.

Samson still has a copy of the message and was going to show it to his former commander Saturday, but did not get to see him.

"Besides," he said, "the Admiral wouldn't know me anyway."
